

Committee Sends $511 Million Operational Budget To Legislature

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Appropriations Committee Wednesday sent to the floor for debate next Monday a $511 million operational budget whose general fund figures are $1.1 million below the original recommendations of Gov. J. James Exon.

The budget bill, revised by the committee at the last minute to add $221,119 in state tax support for the state colleges, will fund the operations of state government for fiscal 1971-72.

Its $183,884,846 state tax supported general fund figure is $1,071,884 below the governor's original recommendations and only $1.3 million more than estimated actual expenditures for the current fiscal year.

Described As Frugal

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings has described the committee's recommendations as frugal.

While general fund figures have been held almost to their current level, the budget provides a larger increase in other funds.

The estimate for federal funds is $26.7 million above the 1970-71 level, and cash funds have been increased substantially by a series of committee decisions such as recommended student tuition increases at the University of Nebraska and the state colleges.

All-Funds Breakdown

Here is the all-funds breakdown for the committee's budget bill: $183.9 million, general fund; $157.1 million, cash funds; $125.6 million, federal funds; $44.9 million revolving funds.

The grand total is $511,532,190.

Marvel presented the bill, LB1025, to the Legislature shortly before it adjourned Wednesday and the measure was scheduled for debate next Monday.

Five other budget bills — funding state aid programs, salaries for constitutional officers and two deficiency appropriations and establishing the personnel office as a code agency — were also accepted for introduction.

Capitol Construction

The committee will huddle at noon Thursday to hammer together its capital construction recommendations, and expects to present those decisions to the Unicameral next week.

Exon has recommended a slim $5½ million new construction program for fiscal 1971-72.

The committee's general fund (largely supplied by sales and income taxes) figure compares to the governor's initial recommendation of $184,956,730. Exon has subsequently increased his general fund figure by an estimated $700,000.

General fund requests from state agencies totaled $244.9 million.

More For Colleges

Prior to advancing the operational budget bill, the committee approved on a 6-0 vote a motion to boost the state colleges tax support figure by $221,119, largely to fund a graduate assistant program for the four institutions.

The bill was advanced on a 7-0 vote, with Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa declining to vote. Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell was absent at the time.

Here are figures for some of the major spending agencies:

University of Nebraska: $43,211,818 general fund; $83,016,014 all funds.

Department of Public Institutions: $23,174,294 general fund; $35,929,589 all funds.

Department of Public Welfare: $26,228,492 general fund; $84,091,060 all funds.

The campus breakdown for the university includes Lincoln, $29,159,052 general fund, $50,111,770 total; Omaha, $5,457,020 general fund, $12,345,715 total; Medical Center, $8,595,746 general fund, $20,558,529 total.

The Lincoln campus budget includes outstate activities.

Final NU Compromise

After considerable negotiation involving the university, the governor and the committee, the budget unit generally accepted the university's final compromise figure in preference to the final recommendation of Exon.

A committee document distributed to newsmen at Wednesday's meeting suggested that "for the first time, our recommendations, we believe, achieve a proper relationship between the four state colleges and the two major campuses of the university system."

The recommendations "provide for expanded enrollments at all campuses," the committee stated, "and no curtailment of instructional programs and services should be necessary."

When the bill comes up for debate Monday, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has promised a motion to advance it without amendment.

RICKOVER CHARGES . . .

Steel, Computer Firms Defy Act

©The New York Times

Washington — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover charged Wednesday that several steel and computer companies had defied the Truth-in-Negotiations Act by refusing to supply the government with cost and pricing information on their defense contracts.

Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, the admiral also complained that the Defense Department had been unwilling to require large defense contractors to comply with the 1962 law.

After listening to the Rickover testimony, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the committee, said it was clear that there had been "deliberate, calculated, widespread violation" of the law. The senator said he would seek Justice Department action, but the admiral, who has been fighting for years with the Defense Department over interpretation and enforcement of the act, advised him: "Don't hold your breath."

Supply, Pricing Data
The Truth-in-Negotiations Act requires that on negotiated — as opposed to competitively awarded — contracts, defense contractors must supply cost and pricing data to back up the prices submitted in their proposals.

The basic purpose is to overcome a government disadvantage in negotiated contracts by providing government contracting officers with information to evaluate the reasonableness of the price asked by defense contractors.

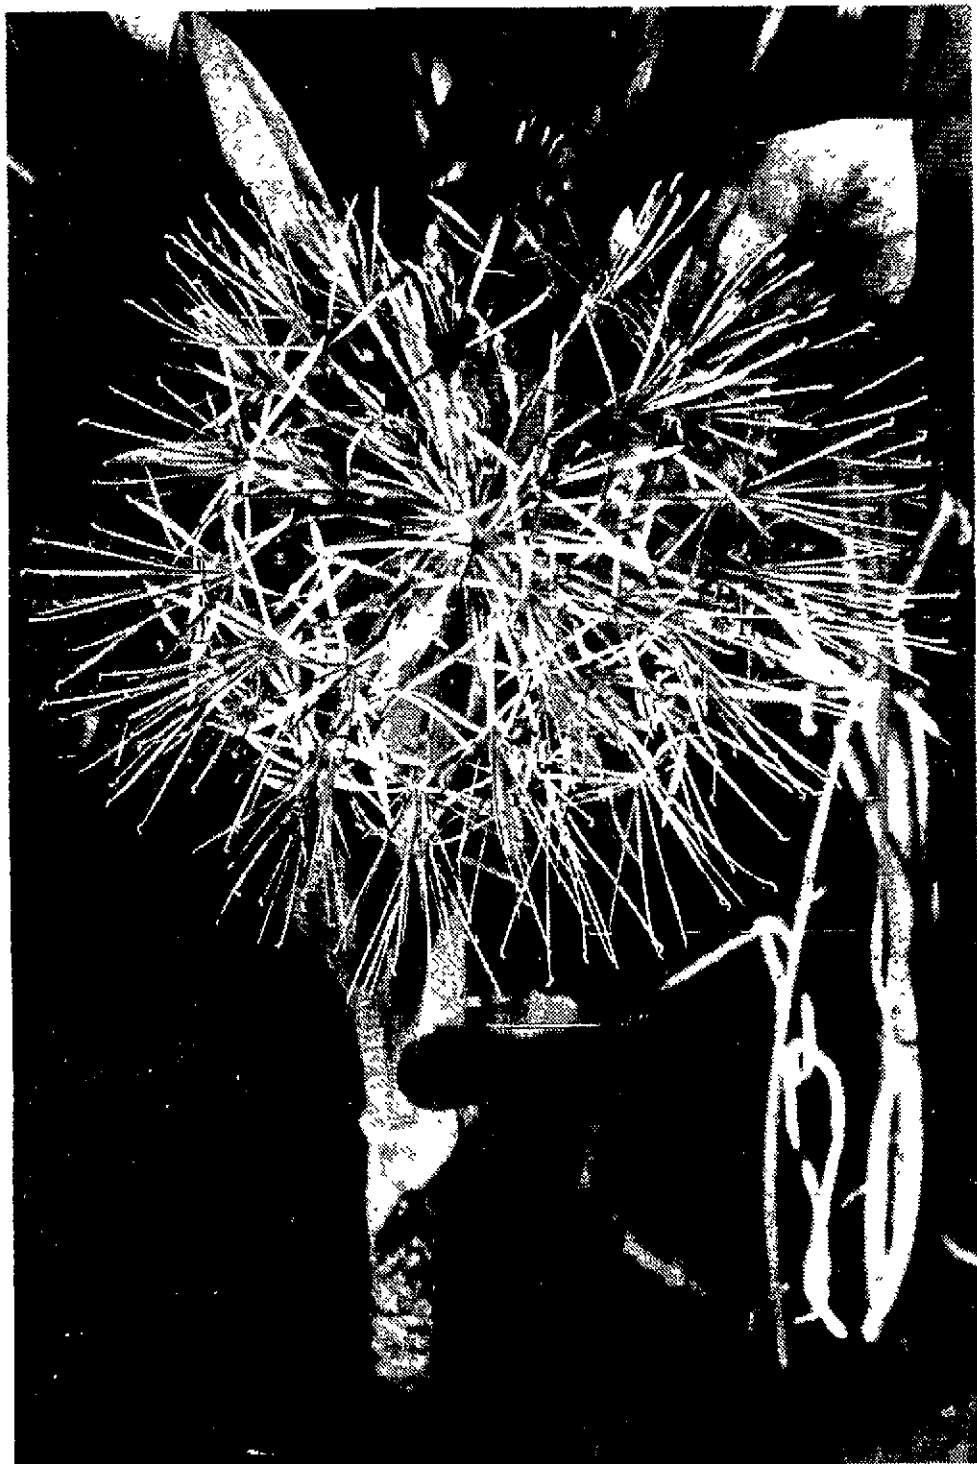

Asked by Proxmire to identify companies that had refused to comply with the law, Rickover read a list of 16 firms that he said had refused to supply cost and pricing data required by the law.

Companies Named

Among steel and metal fabricators he listed U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Lukens Steel Co., Armco Steel Corp., Ladish Co., Cameron Iron Works, Inc., Carpenter Technology Corp., Wolverine Tube division of Universal Oil Products Co., Esco Corp., Wyman-Gordon Co. and International Nickel Co. Inc.

In the computer industry, he listed International Business Machines Corp., Control Data Corp., Univac Division of Sperry Rand Corp., RCA Communications, Inc., Burroughs Corp., and Honeywell Inc.

The law provides an exemption for procurement of "Standard commercial items" sold to the general public. "You would be surprised at some of the military items that suddenly become 'standard commercial items' when it is necessary to get around the Truth-in-Negotiations Act," Rickover observed.

WONDER OF SPRING RENEWED

The wonder of spring is captured in the bloom of an African Blood Lily, grown by Mrs. Don Bauer of 3100 Randolph. Mrs. Bauer brought the plant bulb to Lincoln from Orlando, Fla. last June. The plant's blossom is some eight inches in diameter. (Star Photo.)

FBI Nabs Leslie Bacon On Roof Of D.C. House

. . . UNDERCOVER INFORMANT 'S1' PLAYS ROLE

Washington (AP) — The Justice Department disclosed Wednesday the arrest of a 19-year-old girl who authorities said has been under grand jury investigation in connection with national security matters including the March 1 bombing of the Capitol.

A federal judge refused to reduce her bond of $100,000.

The girl, identified as Leslie Bacon, was arrested by FBI agents in Washington Tuesday on the roof of a house near where she lived with several other persons. She was being held as a material witness in a probe of the bombing by a Seattle, Wash., grand jury.

Issued In Seattle

Asst. U.S. Atty. Harold Sullivan said the warrant for Miss Bacon's arrest and a subpoena for her appearance before the Seattle grand jury had been issued by U.S. District Judge George Bolt of Seattle at the request of the U.S. Attorney there.

Sullivan said the grand jury was investigating a national security matter "including the bombing of the U.S. Capitol."

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica refused a request by Miss Bacon's attorney to quash the material witness warrant or to reduce the amount of her bail, which he said she was unable to meet.

An FBI agent called as a witness by the government, Daniel Mahan, said Miss Bacon told him after her arrest her parents lived in Atherton, Calif.

'Other Factors'

He said information from an informant who knows Miss Bacon and "other factors" led him to believe Miss Bacon would attempt to flee rather than answer the grand jury's subpoena.

When Philip Hirschkop, the attorney for Miss Bacon, attempted to ask Mahan what were the other factors, Judge Sirica upheld a government objection that the information should not be disclosed for reasons of national security.

Nancy Lee Smith Is Finalist For Junior Miss Title

Mobile, Ala. (UPI) — Nancy Lee Smith, Nebraska Junior Miss for 1971, Wednesday night was named a finalist in America's Junior Miss Pageant contest a award competition sponsored by Kraft Foods at a luncheon here.

Miss Smith, one of 10 finalists, is competing for U.S. Savings Bond scholarship awards totaling $5,000.

The 17-year-old senior at Kearney High School has maintained an "A" average while being involved with many extra curricular activities.

She is a Y-Teen cabinet officer, club secretary-treasurer, drum major in the band and session leader in both band and orchestra.

Hirschkop described Miss Bacon as "a scared girl." He said she had been working for the past few weeks for various groups preparing the antiwar demonstrations scheduled for this weekend and next.

Hirschkop filed a writ of habeas corpus with the U.S. Court of Appeals to keep the government from taking Miss Bacon to Seattle Wednesday night. He said he also would file an appeal in the appeals court challenging the validity of the warrant for Miss Bacon's arrest as a material witness.

Soon thereafter, the Court of Appeals agreed to hear Hirschkop's habeas corpus petition Thursday. The hearing effectively blocked the government from taking Miss Bacon to Seattle Wednesday.

Knows Fugitives

Mahan testified that Miss Bacon had occasionally delivered messages to, persons who are fugitives from the FBI. Under questioning by Sullivan, Mahan said the fugitive status of those persons had received much publicity but he did not name them.

At one point in his questioning of Mahan, Hirschkop asked, "Is she suspected as being a participant in the bombing of the Capitol?"

"Yes," Mahan replied.

"Then she's wanted as a possible defendant?" Hirschkop asked.

"I don't know it," the agent replied.

Figuring prominently in Mahan's testimony was information gained from a mysterious undercover agent, referred to only as "S1."

Mahan testified that S1 was acquainted with Miss Bacon and Miss Bacon's associates and had given the FBI information through the intermediary of what Sullivan termed "a supervisory official of another law enforcement agency."

Buxom Blonde

Miss Bacon is a tall, buxom blonde who wore a maroon maxiskirt with a sleeveless purple knit top to her court appearance.

In Atherton, Calif., Lynn Bacon said the arrest of her daughter, Leslie, was "all a big mistake."

Mrs. Bacon said in an interview Wednesday she had talked to her daughter earlier in the morning and "three or four times" since her arrest Tuesday.

Elegant Treatment

"She has been treated very elegantly," Mrs. Bacon said.

"They drove around in a Cadillac last night, looking for a hamburger, and kept her in a $35 hotel room with three federal marshals guarding her."

Mrs. Bacon said the arrest resulted when "someone apparently overheard her having a conversation" about the March 1 bombing. "She told me she had seen nothing," said Mrs. Bacon. "Everyone has had conversations about this."

She said Leslie was in Washington to work for the April 24 peace march, mainly on musical arrangements.

"I don't know why they are so concerned about the Capitol when they are blowing up people," Mrs. Bacon said.

Oldest Of 8 Children

Leslie is the eldest of eight children, ranging upward in age from 5 years. She attended Holy Cross High School in nearby Mountain View and Woodside High School in Woodside.

Sister Irmalyn at Holy Cross said Miss Bacon left before the 1967-68 term ended.

Leslie's father, John Bacon, owns the San Bruno Lumber Co. in nearby San Bruno.

Communism, Overpopulation 'Top Threats'

. . . LINCOLNITES ALSO TROUBLED BY ECONOMIC, WELFARE WOES

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth story in a six-part series reporting the results of a questionnaire mailed many Lincolnites on personal, student, national and world subjects.)

By WAYNE KREUSCHER
Star Staff Writer

The threat of communism and overpopulation are the two world crises that bothered the most Lincolnites who returned The Star's "What do you think?" questionnaire.

The high cost of living, unemployment, inflation and welfare were the number one national problems listed by many persons.

The Star mailed its 12-part questionnaire to 104 Lincolnites and 43 were returned.

Fear Communism

Of the 43 persons, 13 wrote about communism in reply to the question "What do you think is the most serious crisis facing the world today?"

One person wrote, "Communism trying to over-power the free peoples of the world and take their properties" is the most serious world crisis.

Another described the greatest crisis as "a bomb — especially when you deal with countries as Russia and China who say one thing, but mean just the opposite."

Overpopulation

Overpopulation ranked second after communism and was mentioned as a serious world crisis by eleven persons.

Many combined their population worries with comments about the "underfed starving nations" and birth control.

The unsuccessful quest for world peace was mentioned by a substantial amount of people.

'All Want Best Deal'

"It seems as though every country wants a just peace, an honorable peace and so on — a peace that leaves them with the best deal," one person wrote. "As a result we have so much wheeling and dealing, who knows what to believe. Along with this comes the inability to tolerate, appreciate and understand other points of view, doctrines, religions, races and so on."

"Until all people learn to think in terms of 'mankind' instead of 'me' and 'us,' we will continue to have Vietnams and Near East crises and Iron Curtains, POWs and South African bigotry. Our minds — and hearts seem to be too small to accept this."

Another person wrote, "I feel the most serious problem in the world today is the tension found between peoples and countries. There are too many worthless wars and too many people trying to rule others (the U.S. included)."

Economic Problems

Economic and welfare problems were listed by 17 persons in reply to the question "What do you think is the most serious problem in your country today?"

A few also listed economic problems as the world's most serious crises.

These comments ranged from "shaky economy" and "runaway inflation" to "too many people on welfare."

Decrease Payments

"We must decrease welfare payments to the people who can work," a person wrote.

Another said the nation's greatest problem is "the wants of the people earning good money and yet striking for more. I don't like unions in that sense. The cost of everything keeps going up and yet we, as small businessmen, are afraid to raise our prices to make any increase in profit at all."

The Vietnam war, pollution, crime, prejudice and a lack of morals and religious faith were listed frequently as national problems and occasionally as world crises.

War in Vietnam, pollution and lack of morals each were called great national problems by eight persons.

"This nation must end a war the majority of people are against," a person wrote.

A person concerned with a "decrease in values" wrote there is "too much attention to sex, increasing laxity on the part of parents in maintaining a healthy, family atmosphere and too much alcoholism."

Senseless Music

"Also, those long-haired, bearded characters with their shouting and senseless so-called music. They must be kept off television and radio and the young of the country should be taught the real value of good music, the classical music that will never die."

Seven persons said crime is the nation's most serious problem and five listed racial prejudice.

Other crises and problems mentioned by a few people included drugs, liberal court rulings, power of the federal government and student unrest.

Questions Listed

The following are two questions from The Star's "What do you think?" questionnaire, the subject of the accompanying story:

What do you think is the most serious crisis facing the world today?

What do you think is the most serious problem in your country today?

News Summary

(c) New York Times News Service

Washington — Administration officials revealed Wednesday a Soviet proposal to the United States in which both nations would limit their missile defenses to 100 interceptor missiles protecting their capitals. The proposal, made during the latest round of strategic arms limitation talks in Vienna, comes after President Nixon's public rejection of any agreement that did not limit both offensive and defensive weapons.

Chinese Man Rescued

Paris — Only Airport policemen, seeing a Chinese technician being dragged aboard an airliner bound to Shanghai, seized the man and rushed him to a hospital over the protests of the other Chinese travelers and representatives of the Chinese Embassy in Paris. French officials said the man was apparently drugged and would be allowed to decide whether to stay in France or to return to China when he regains his senses.

Black Calls For Dialogue

Abidjan, Ivory Coast — President Felix Houphouët Boigny called for a "dialogue free from reservations" between the black nations of Africa and South Africa. His position that talking would be wiser than ignoring the white minority government of South Africa puts him at one extreme in one of Africa's most fervent diplomatic debates.

Laotian Operation 'Analyzed'

Moscow — South Vietnamese forces suffered heavy losses in the recent Laotian campaign because their American advisers underestimated the Communist forces in the area and were surprised by the introduction of tanks and heavy artillery. The Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper said in an analysis of the campaign.

Wrongdoing Counts Upheld

Washington — Federal Judge Gerhard A. Gesell, in an opinion that upheld virtually every contention of wrongdoing in a breach of trust suit filed by union members and their widows, held the United Mine Workers of America, its welfare and retirement fund and a union-owned bank liable for millions of dollars in damages for conspiring to enrich the union and the bank at the miners' expense.

Walters Said Compromise Choice

Washington — It was learned that Johnnie M. Walters, the assistant attorney general who heads the Justice Department's tax division, is the all-but-certain administration choice for commissioner of internal revenue. His choice is a compromise following a long dispute between members of the White House staff and Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Girl Arrested In Bombing

Washington — In what could be the first break in the investigation into the bombing of the United States Capitol, federal agents arrested a 19-year-old girl near the commune in which she lives and held her as a material witness for the Seattle grand jury that is looking into the bombing. Her bail was set at $100,000. (More on Page 1.)

Amtrak Delay Advocated

Washington — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, joining the mounting bitterness in Congress over the schedule cuts planned by the National Railroad Passenger Corp., called for a delay of at least six months in the effective date of the "Amtrak" system. But the corporation, which takes over the trains Saturday, said the protests were too late. (More on Page 2.)

Adm. Rickover Testifies

Washington — Testifying before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover charged that several leading steel and computer companies had violated the truth-in-negotiations act by refusing to give the government cost and pricing information on their defense contracts. He added that the Pentagon was unwilling to require compliance with the 1962 law. (More on Page 1.)

Killing Of Civilians Alleged

Washington — An unofficial House committee looking into possible war crimes heard a former Army sergeant recall that he had participated in the killing of about 30 Vietnamese civilians just over a year after the My Lai massacre. The Army said it would investigate the allegation.

$9.2 Billion Budget Proposed

New York — Mayor John V. Lindsay asked the city council and the legislature to approve a $9.2 billion city budget, to give him power to borrow $360 million to balance the budget and to give him permission to temporarily "furlough" city workers. Some mayoral aides said privately that even that budget, the second-best of the four options listed last week, was more than they expected to get.

Shepard, Negro Among 49 Given Admiral Stars

Washington (UPI) — The Navy announced selection Tuesday of Alan B. Shepard Jr., America's first man in space, as its first astronaut-admiral. At the same time it said frigate commander Samuel L. Gravelly will become the first black admiral in U.S. Navy history. Shepard and Gravelly were among 49 named for promotion to rear admiral from a list of about 2,000 Navy captains. The board that picked them was told to choose young men, iconoclasts and Vietnam veterans in addition to senior men on the eligibility list. Navy Secretary John H. Chafee said President Nixon had approved all 49 selections. He said the list now awaits Senate confirmation. Largest Group Chafee said this was the

Two Nebraska natives were among the 49 Navy line officers selected for promotion to the rank of rear admiral Tuesday. Petersen, the nephew of former Lincoln Mayor Dean H. Petersen, is presently serving as executive officer of the world's largest warship, the nuclear-powered USS Enterprise. The 49-year-old Navy commander was awarded the 1962 Collier Trophy by the late President John F. GRADE SCHOOL . . . in Thompsonville, Ill., is littered with debris.

Tornadoes Kill 9 Kentuckians

Columbia, Ky. (AP) — State officials said Wednesday that three tornadoes which swooped into south-central Kentucky killed nine persons, injured more than 100 and caused property damage which would climb into the millions. Gov. Louie B. Nunn inspected the area Wednesday, a few hours after the Tuesday night tornadoes dissipated, and said he would ask the federal government to designate certain sections as disaster areas. "I can't accurately assess the loss in dollars and cents," the governor said, "but it is extensive." The tornadoes spewed destruction intermittently along an 80-mile path. One Dead In Illinois A twister also struck Tuesday in Thompsonville, Ill., and killed one woman. Thirteen persons were injured, seven buildings destroyed and 50 were damaged in the community of 400. Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie declared Thompsonville a disaster area. In Kentucky, six persons died near Columbia, the Adair County seat; two died in Russell County, and two were killed in the Butler-Warren Counties section, some 80 miles west of here. "I never heard a bomb but this sounded like it, I guess," said Nanie McBeath, a widow. She was awakened by a roar, stared out the window and saw, by lightning flashes, that the Salem Elementary School was beginning to crumble. Finis Neat took his wife and their nine children into their storm cellar during an earlier tornado alert but returned to the house when the warning was lifted.

House, Senate Drives May Set Back Amtrak

Washington (UPI) — Two drives got under way in the House and Senate Wednesday to legislate a six-month delay in the start of operations of Amtrak, the new semipublic rail passenger service scheduled to begin rolling on Saturday. C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline clerks, said the 180,000 members of his union might stage wildcat strikes in the next few days to protest Amtrak job protection policies approved by the Labor Department over organized labor's protests. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, whose home state of Montana would suffer a sharp curtailment of passenger service under Amtrak, proposed quick congressional approval of legislation that would delay the start of operations until Nov. 1. He warned of "a monumental transportation disaster" if Amtrak begins on schedule. In the House, Rep. Bertram L. Podell, D-N.Y., announced plans to introduce a joint resolution ordering a delay of several months to give rail unions and management time to negotiate the terms for handling employee layoffs caused by Amtrak's cutbacks in passenger trains. Podell later abandoned his plan after consulting with House

Commerce Committee lawyers. Dennis told a House commerce subcommittee that the job protection policy endorsed by the Justice Department and ordered into effect by Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson would allow the carriers to avoid paying separation benefits to as many as 25,000 rail workers facing layoffs. "Our people are up in arms," Dennis said in a near-shout. "I wouldn't be surprised to see them take some drastic action in the next few days." Wildcat Strikes He said later he was referring to wildcat strikes. "I can't see how we can get under way Saturday until these problems are solved," said Podell, a subcommittee member. "We can't permit the secretary of labor or management to dictate the conditions."

St. McPherson, Ga. (AP) — Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc testified Wednesday he accidentally cut off the tip of a Viet Cong suspect's finger near My Lai while trying to frighten him into disclosing the location of a cache of enemy weapons and mine fields.

Kotouc, charged with maiming the prisoner, was the final defense witness to testify before the defense rested. The judge, Col. Madison Wright, planned to charge the jury Thursday. The jury of seven career Army officers then will begin deliberations.

Kotouc, 37, of Humboldt, Neb., said the information he sought was essential if U.S. troops who staged the My Lai operation were to leave the area in safety the next morning.

"I tell this court, this jury and this room," said Kotouc, turning in the witness chair to face the jury, "that at no time did I intend to injure this man."

"But I did intend to enter the psychological element of fear into the interrogation. I believe it was proper then and proper now."

Kotouc is the fourth soldier to be tried on criminal charges arising from the My Lai assault and its aftermath.

Ear Defect
He testified earlier Wednesday that he was assigned to an intelligence job in Vietnam despite having an ear defect which the Army had told him would keep him out of a combat zone.

Kotouc, the father of three teen-aged children, said records of his hearing problem were discovered only after he arrived in Vietnam. He quoted an Army spokesman as saying, "Well, we can't send you home because higher headquarters sent you here and we're not going to send you back to tell them they made a mistake."

Under direct examination by his civilian lawyer, former

Nebraska Gov. Robert Crosby, the captain also said he had been given no formal intelligence training.

Kotouc testified that the prisoner he injured was one of three Viet Cong suspects rounded up by the South Vietnamese national police.

He said the police separated the three from a group of 25 detainees brought to the U.S. bivouac area near My Lai after the assault. Kotouc, intelligence officer for the task force which staged the raid, said he singled out one military-age male to interrogate.

The suspect, he said, steadily refused to look at him or answer questions.

'Hunting Knife'
"About this time, I had a knife with me — a hunting knife," Kotouc testified. He described the knife as about eight to 10 inches long and heavy.

Kotouc said he told the suspect through an interpreter he would use the knife unless his questions were answered. The suspect ignored him, Kotouc testified.

At that point, the captain testified, he had the suspect place his right hand, fingers extended, on the edge of a board.

The captain said he tapped the board between the suspect's fingers several times.

"I gave it another little crack," he said. "I missed the board and I hit the terrorist's finger, the little finger of his right hand. The knife went through the finger and the little end of the finger popped off."

Under cross-examination, Kotouc was asked how he happened to miss the board.

"Were you pushed?" asked the prosecutor, Capt. William Eckhardt of Starkville, Miss. "No, and I didn't trip or stumble," snapped Kotouc. "I intended to bring it down on the board and that's all I can remember."

The government called four rebuttal witnesses after Kotouc testified that he struck the finger a light blow.

They testified that the officer they saw with the knife raised it at least shoulder high.

Maj. George R. Powell, a physician stationed at Ft. McPherson's hospital, was called as an expert witness by the prosecution and testified that it would take a "strong blow" to cut through the bone with a single blow.

'Shoulder High Blow'
Another witness, Thomas J. Kinch of North Cape May, N.J., was asked to describe the blow.

"I'd say it was shoulder high and just came down straight," Kinch said. Kinch, who testified earlier for the prosecution, was at the scene as a member of the unit that staged the My Lai assault.

The military judge Tuesday ordered a directed verdict of innocent on a charge that Kotouc assaulted the same prisoner by cutting him on the neck. The defense held that the government's six witnesses failed to substantiate the charge.

Man, 82, Carries Invalid Wife Out Of Burning Home
Papillon (AP) — An 82-year-old man carried his invalid wife from their burning rural Sarpy County home Wednesday.

The woman, Mrs. Stella Loghry, 82, was taken to Douglas County Hospital for treatment of shock. Hospital officials said she was in fair condition. Sarpy County sheriff's deputies said she suffered no burns.

Her husband, Ralph E., said the fire apparently started in the chimney of the kitchen stove and spread to the walls.

The home, where the Loghrys have lived for 25 years, was destroyed.

Train Robberies Will Mark End of Passenger Service

North Platte (AP) — The Union Pacific Railroad, which hasn't had a train robbery since 1916, is going to have two bogus robberies Saturday commemorating the end of railroad passenger service to the city.

The last genuine rootin-tootin train robbery on the Union Pacific occurred July 12, 1916, at Rock River, Wyo. Its perpetrator, Bill Carlisle was captured and jailed. However, Union Pacific officials said, he served his jail term and wrote a book about the robbery.

Saturday's make-believe raids will be on a somewhat different level.

When the last eastbound and the last westbound passenger trains pull into the station at North Platte Saturday, the bad guys will be waiting at the station with the good guys in hot pursuit. If the timing works out as planned the passengers will scarcely have time to pile off the train and get their hands in the air before the good guys take over.

Columbus Area Towns Discuss Corridor Plan

Columbus (AP) — Representatives from David City, Shelby and Rising City met with Columbus Chamber of Commerce officials Wednesday for further discussions on the proposed highway corridor from Columbus to Interstate 80.

Columbus area residents and those from the visiting communities favor a route which would generally follow U.S. 81 to Nebraska 92 and then cut directly from Nebraska 92 to the Interstate.

The State Highway Advisory Commission has recommended another route to Gov. J. James Exon and area residents are seeking to have their proposal adopted in its place.

Pollution Cleanup Depends On Public, Claims Gullander

Omaha (AP) — The nation can have clean air, clean water and clean land, the president of the National Association of Manufacturers said Wednesday, but how fast it comes depends upon how much the general public is willing to pay for it.

"We can't do it in a quarter-century," NAM president W. P. Gullander of New York said in a panel discussion with representatives of the news media before the downtown Rotary Club.

"And it may mean the housewife can't have a new coat or a new car in order to pay the bill," he cautioned.

Gullander said the biggest problem is to get the bureaucrats heading up the ecology programs "to be realistic in what they demand." To the end, he said, it is important that industrialists with ap-

Munger President-Elect Of State Medical Group

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska State Medical Association concluded its annual sessions Wednesday with the election of Dr. Horace V. Munger of Lincoln as president-elect and adoption of a method to handle questions about medical care.

Dr. Roger J. Mason, McCook, who advanced to the presidency at this year's meeting, said the method of handling questions raised by patients, doctors or medical directors of programs which pay medical bills, will be a peer review system.

This means that a group of doctors will review specific cases brought before it.

Nebraska will be divided into districts for purposes of this review, Dr. Mason said, and he feels the system "will carry great weight. The only other recourse would be to take the matter to court."

He said he believes doctors, and payment programs such as insurance companies will be disposed to accept peer review group's recommendations.

He said the primary purpose of peer review is to upgrade the level of medical care in the state.

Dr. Munger will take office in 1972.

Other officers elected include: Dr. William Nutzman, Kearney, speaker of the house of delegates; Dr. Harry McFadden, Omaha, vice speaker; Dr. Earl F. Leininger, McCook, American Medical Association delegate; and Dr. Mason, alternate AMA delegate.

Dr. Clarence R. Brott of Beatrice, outgoing president of the association, said doctors have had little to say in formulation of national health programs.

"Government take-over of the health care programs in America will result in total control over the doctor's delivery of medical care with a subsequent decline in quality and with added administrative costs," he said.

"It is difficult to meet the highest standards with a third partly deciding not only the fees, but also when and if a patient should be admitted or dismissed from the hospital, much less when he should see or not see the doctor at his office," Dr. Brott said.

He called on the physicians for more active support of the association and called for continued support of a health care plan which will offer protection for catastrophic illnesses and free care for the poor, while charging others who can afford to pay for universal health care according to their level of income.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Seeking to find the character of the city in the current campaign for Tuesday's general election is a little like gazing into a crystal ball. It is a rather strange election in that there are no overriding issues and few easy choices for the voters to make.

In the contest for City Council, voters could have a most difficult time making up their minds. Incumbent Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis clearly deserves re-election, an event which would be a decided asset to the city in terms of experience.

If she is re-elected, the new council will still be composed of only four present members and three new ones. Without Mrs. Boosalis, the council would have four new members, leaving the body seriously lacking in terms of an immediate working knowledge of the affairs of local government.

Beyond Mrs. Boosalis, the field represents a tight race and this is what the final results will probably show. On the basis of what knowledge we have of the candidates and our judgment of their qualifications, our nod for the second and third spots on the ballot would go to Steve Cook, an architect, and Richard H. Hansen, an attorney.

Closely grouped for the fourth spot would be F. Bob Sikyta, W. Richard Baker and Mrs. Nancy Childs. This leaves Charles M. Hamilton and Bill Murrell, businessmen who might make good public servants if elected but who rate behind the others on our scale. This is no discredit to Hamilton and Murrell but a reflection of the simple reality that in any rating of eight people, someone has to be first and someone has to be last.

The race for mayor has become a spirited contest between incumbent Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and builder and City Councilman Ervin E. Peterson. In all respects, the campaign has not been as high-level as it might have been but we feel it is difficult to place the blame for this dominantly in either camp.

On that basis, we tend to ignore some of the assertions and insinuations that have pointed toward a lack of integrity on the part of either candidate. Our feeling is that both candidates are well qualified and either would do a creditable enough job if elected.

We do have a leaning but it is nothing more than that. The leaning is toward Schwartzkopf simply because we see no overriding reason to put him out of office.

The only issue in the mayor's race has been one of leadership but it is hard to define in specific terms. Perhaps we have not moved as quickly in some areas as we might have but there is progress being made in most matters of local concern at the moment.

Where progress might not be as everyone would like, it is hard to say whether one candidate for mayor or the other would make the difference. Peterson and Schwartzkopf undoubtedly show different styles in governing the city but we are unconvinced that the end results would be appreciably different as between the two men.

While this may be perplexing to the voters, it is not a bad thing for Lincoln. There is a lot to be said for a situation in which reasonable government would prevail regardless of the outcome of the polls.

Two Board of Education races involve three full terms and one short term for two years. Once again, a decision on the candidates is difficult to come by. It cannot be said with any certainty who would prove to be the best members of the board.

In the race for full terms, however, incumbents Mrs. Catherine Angle and John Lux have done a creditable job and we see no reason for their replacement. Previously appointed to the board, Marvin C. Stewart has been adequate but is seriously challenged by Ronald L. Jensen.

Dale E. Le Baron and Ken R. Johnson are write-in candidates from the primary and are not expected to muster enough strength to come out winners.

In the short-term contest, incumbent Edward Cople is strongly challenged by Karen E. Dinsmore. Dinsmore, as does Jensen, has a heavy background in professional education. Some voters may well consider this an asset but it might also dilute the traditional non-professional character of the board.

In the final analysis, our leaning is toward the incumbents in all races for the Board of Education.

Tough Times Great To Look Back On

NEW YORK — It may be true that an elephant never forgets, but when you come down to it, what has an elephant got to remember? A tusk here, a sahib there, an occasional glimpse of the Beautiful People on safari.

People, on the other hand, have a lot to remember that is good and exciting — but they lack the elephantine memory.

It is for this reason that a great many publishers, authors, clothing designers, producers, and recording companies are getting rich today on the memorabilia and music of (seemingly) better times. They are plugging up the holes in the sieve-like memories of American adults with books, music, movies, fashions, and even magazines (good, old "Liberty" has reappeared as a nostalgic quarterly), and people are wallowing in memories of such marvelous eras as the Depression and World War II.

Even the nation's kids are subconsciously attracted to back-think; our nine-year-olds came home the other day with the words "Kick Me" scotch-taped to you-know-where on his 1941-revival bell-bottoms.

Weaker Substitute Approved

Legislation will never completely end pollution, State Senator Harold Simpson of Lincoln has said, because pollution problems are caused by people. True enough. But legislation that is broad in scope and with teeth in it will encourage people to solve their pollution problems in a much more effective manner than weak-kneed measures such as one that was moved along by the Unicameral this week.

Nebraska's environment is pure by comparison to other areas. Those interested in preserving it were the losers Tuesday when a comprehensive environmental protection measure, LB879, was killed by the Legislature and a much weaker substitute, LB939, was given first-stage approval.

Patterned after recommendations offered by a 1967 interim study committee and a special study committee appointed by former Gov. Norbert Tiemann, and holding the support of Gov. J. J. Exon and conservationists across the state, LB879 would have created a new Department of Environmental Protection, headed by a director appointed by the governor, that would have succeeded the Water Pollution Control Council, Air Pollution Control Council, the Radiation Advisory Council and some segments of the Health Department. The new agency would have been charged with the responsibility of establishing air and water quality standards, protecting the purity of land resources (including plant and animal life and scenic beauty), regulating waste and junk disposal and providing for noise abatement. The bill provided stiff penalties for violators.

In its place, the Legislature gave initial approval to LB939, an alternative plan merging the air and water pollution control councils into a single council dominated by agriculture, industry and local government representatives. Basically, leaving the control of pollution up to the polluters.

As usual, the argument was "let's not harass business," let's pass "something we can live with." At best, a selfish, short-sighted attitude.

Sure-Fire Issue?

If the proposed bus or mass transit bond issue should be defeated in Tuesday's general election, it would have to go down as the upset of the year or perhaps all time. It has been a long time since Lincoln voters have been asked to approve a bond issue which seems to have such universal support as this one.

The ballot seeks authorization for the city to issue $985,000 in general obligation bonds to acquire the bus system of Lincoln City Lines. If there is any opposition to the program, it certainly has not surfaced. Yet, we can be sure that the issue will garner its share of negative votes.

Somewhere out there among the electorate are thousands of people who will vote against this proposal, perhaps on the grounds that it is an additional expenditure of money. It is possible that there are even far more of these voters than we think.

But all signs still point to an overwhelming victory for the bond proposal. Why? Simply because the need is so great.

The present bus system is shambles from just every point of view. The facilities are bad, the routes inadequate, the schedules constantly disrupted and patronage constantly declining.

Additionally, the buses represent one of the major pollutants of the environment and a serious irritant and even danger to the driving public. One can be so engulfed in the exhaust from one of the present buses that he literally cannot see, not a healthy situation for a driver.

Certainly, Lincoln desperately needs an improved public transportation system. If the bond issue fails, there would be no system at all since City Lines has served notice that it intends to quit business. It is unthinkable that Lincoln would be without a bus system but approval of the bonds on this Tuesday is the only thing that will eliminate that threat.

Two Nixon Appointees To Supreme Court Change Decision Balance On Old Issues

LONDON—The flurry over the Supreme Court's unanimous new decisions on school segregation will not long obscure a growing unease, on other matters, among the court's real friends and critics.

They know the court cannot always be wise or even consistent. The one thing they do ask of judges given such great power is intellectual honesty. Something must be said when that has gone wrong. It has.

The problem facing the court right now is not unexpected. President Nixon's two appointees, Chief Justice Burger and Justice Blackmun, have changed the balance. Issues that were decided by narrow majorities in recent years are arising again, before a new majority disposed to decide them the other way. But would it look right to change principles so hastily?

In a number of cases this term, the new majority has chosen to avoid this dilemma by pretending that it does not exist. The court purports to stick with a recent precedent, but then comes to the opposite result by drawing a factual or legal distinction that does not really exist. In the words of a leading student of the Supreme Court, not a man given to hyperbole, "it is dissembling."

The court decided the Schneider case on a clear theory: Every American citizen, by whatever method he became one, is on an equal footing. He has "a constitutional right to remain a citizen," as the court put it in a subsequent case, "unless he voluntarily relinquishes that citizenship." The court found that purpose in the opening sentence of the 14th Amendment, which defines as citizens "all persons born or naturalized in the United States."

In the new case, Blackmun and those joining him — the Chief Justice and Justices Harlan, White and Stewart — could have said candidly that they did not accept the theory of the Schneider decision and were overruling it. For their real belief is plainly that the Constitution allows Congress to set reasonable limits on citizenship, a view held by many.

But the opinion did not say that. It did not challenge the Schneider theory. It simply said the Bellei case was different because Bellei was not, in the language of the 14th amendment, "naturalized in the United States." Hence the amendment did not apply to him at all. Next case.

The trouble with that argument is that it has so little support in history or reason. From the very beginning that clause of the amendment has been regarded as comprehensive, covering all the ways in which one can become an American citizen. Congress has so assumed; successive Supreme Court justices, majority and dissenters, have so written. In the constitutional sense, Congress can only naturalize someone "in the United States," and the statute Lincoln, Neb. We are next-door neighbors to a very wonderful family who just two years ago moved in from the farm to get away from the dust and pollen that was causing their little son so much discomfort with his asthma condition. All last summer he suffered from the dust.

Now the city has provided us with a very nice recreation center, a very beautiful building with a very dusty rock road access and parking lot. There was a promise of a black top on the road and the parking lot last year, that the city would be able to afford by this summer, but now they tell us that maybe next year they can take care of this. We wonder if they ever intend to do anything about this situation.

How can they possibly build two new centers if they cannot finish the first one properly. We know for a fact if some of the City Council or the mayor had to live close to this dusty road, they wouldn't put up with the noise nor the dust for another year before they would find enough money to put a black top on the road. They would also find a way to stop the speeding along this road before some small child gets run over and killed.

There is another thing that would be stopped and that is the lack of respect for other people's property by the people who frequent the center. They are prone to wander across the property owners' yards at any angle instead of using the sidewalks that are provided. They seem to think that they not only have the privilege but every right to cross these properties and if called upon to stay on the sidewalks, they emit such foul language, it's a sin just to have to listen to them.

Seattle, Wash. I am a handicapped veteran, living on a small pension. My vision and hearing are slowly leaving me. The doctors say they can do nothing, so I have made hobbies to keep busy and fight off periods of mental depression and despondency which seem to plague me most of the time.

While I am collecting rare old valentines and old postcards, I am also collecting rare old calendars and advertising cards, in the hope of writing a book about the items I collect and earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me, so my hobbies have a dual purpose.

Living on limited funds, I depend on friends and others for the items I collect and am wondering if any of The Star readers may have any old valentines, old postcards or rare old calendars they do not want, because I would be happy to have any they may care to send me and glad to get them.

Interest Conflicts

Lincoln, Neb. There has been discussion recently, particularly concerning the mayoral candidates, of possible conflicts with outside interests. There has been no discussion, however, about possible conflict where candidates now hold other positions within city government.

Although there is no city charter prohibition against candidates' holding other posts, the possibilities for conflict are evident. Many other cities require candidates to resign posts before announcing candidacies for other offices. While the law here does not require resignations, candidates ought to do so to avoid any possibility of a conflict. A Planning Commission member running for City Council, for example, might prove to be susceptible to outside interests who might support his candidacy in return for consideration of a request before the commission. Such a possibility disappears if members of all commissions and other bodies are required to resign before seeking another office. This is not to suggest that such things have occurred; only that they could.

Lincoln has been notably free of such conflicts in the past. A city charter amendment would preclude the possibility in the future. Resignation prior to the election to offices now held by candidates (with the exception of those seeking re-election to the same office) could prevent any such conflicts now.

Hebron, Neb. Every taxpayer in Nebraska should give Mr. Exon a pat on the back for speaking up on N.U. spending. We put him in the Statehouse to cut spending and taxes and we think he is trying.

There is too much money spent needlessly on the education budget and football. We believe in education but it's getting out of hand. Someone has to pay for it and it's the middle class people who have to do it, and they are getting tired of it. We can't do it much longer, as our salaries don't go higher each time we want them to.

So — hats off to Mr. Exon. Let's get behind our governor and lower our expenses.

Patchwork Prairie Country

"The history of every country begins in the heart of a man or a woman," said Willa Cather through one of her characters in "O Pioneers."

To better glimpse his area from which she wrote so vividly, we journeyed with the Catherland spring tour at Red Cloud and felt richly rewarded.

Across the rolling upland she called the Divide in her stories, ascending and descending the slopes, we saw beyond the meadowland where the brown of the new-ploughed earth met the fresh blue of the April sky. This land was the land of which she wrote. This land was populated by the people of which she wrote with such depth and understanding.

We saw it all; the New Virginia country church against a backdrop of low rolling hills and neighboring homes recalled by Willa. We heard the meadowlarks pour out the ecstasy of their song, clear and vibrant just as she had heard them when the prairie was scarcely touched by the plow and recorded in her books. We saw, too, the restored church built in 1883 in which Antonia, a main character in "My Antonia," was married and the cemetery in which she was buried.

As we stood on the platform of the old train depot, it seemed I could hear the far-off whistle of a train bringing immigrants over the bare rim of the prairie. It was here beside the tracks the families waited huddled together with their meager belongings on the station platform. It was here where Antonia's family waited, Bohemian immigrants eager to begin a new life in a new land.

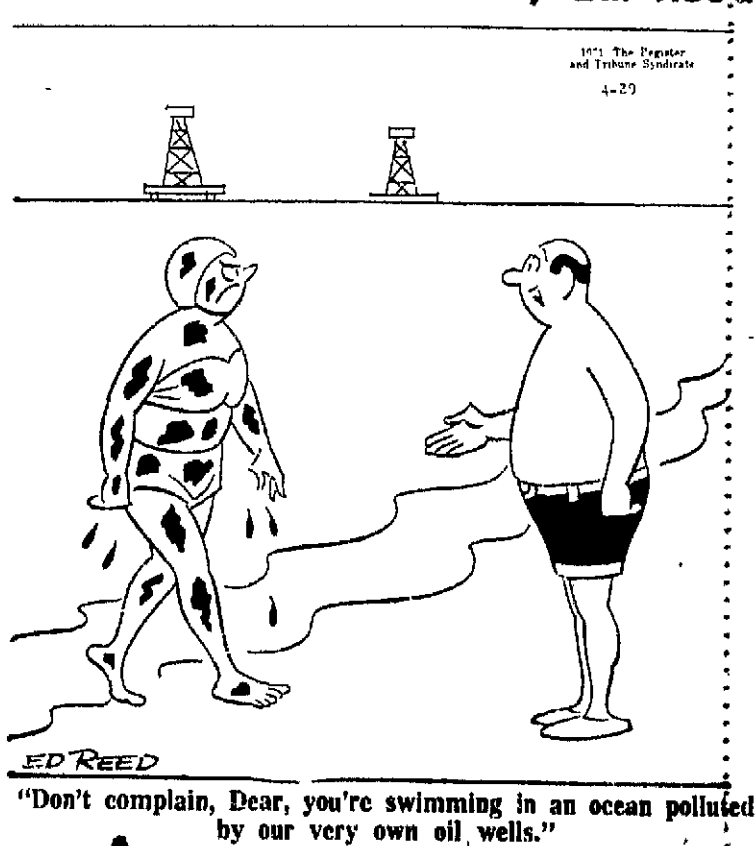

Because of the deep concern Willa Cather had for these immigrants — the Danes and Germans, the Norwegians and Swedes and the excitement of a new way of life being carved on the plains — she put into her books a living tribute . . . these pioneers who made the land yield to their plowshares and attained a new consciousness of the country.

People Can Escape, Outwit Bad Weather

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robert Peterson is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by author and publisher Henry Schmidt.)

By HENRY SCHMIDT
Mark Twain was wrong. People can do something about the weather. They can do one of two things: run away from it or stay put and outwit it. Either course, science now tells us, can mean a healthier, longer life.

Public Health Service records in America, similar records in Britain and elsewhere, dramatically demonstrate the role of climate in longevity. Figures show that the chances of reaching age 50 are much better in the temperate zone than in the torrid zone. Relatively fewer people under 50 die where the weather is tricky and variable than those closer to the ever-hot, ever-humid countries at the equator.

What happens after 50? Exactly the reverse! Southerners who reach middle life are more likely to live longer, on the average, than their neighbors in the North. When you understand why this is so, you may be able to use the knowledge for comfort, health and extra years.

As far as climate goes, studies have shown that the ideal places in America to spend the first five decades are the Pacific Northwest, New England and the Great Lakes region. After 50, the farther south people move, the longer they're likely to live. Many older people have done it already, moved their nests to St. Petersburg, Miami, Phoenix, Tucson and points along the Mexican border.

People catch more colds and respiratory ailments in the zone of changing weather, but the constant battle toughens them and they are more energetic, creative, productive. After 50 though, with the weather packing as powerful a punch as ever, humans begin to feel the effects of the struggle. Each bout with extreme weather takes a little more out of them. For the man, or woman down South, however, life after 50 enters a phase in which conditions favor longevity.

Dr. Ellsworth Huntington, of Yale University charted the areas of greatest civilization and the areas of greatest storminess in the world. He compared them and showed that wherever most storms are, civilization has reached its highest development. Wherever the weather is most constant, people are most backward.

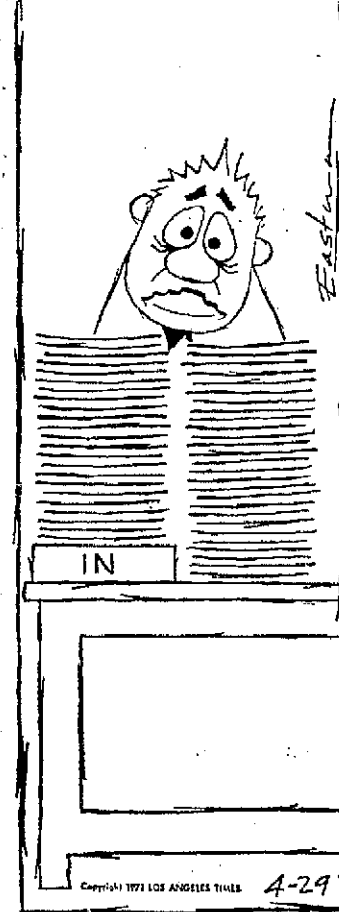

Experiments have established that the ideal temperature for human comfort is about 66 degrees. Important as temperature is to comfort and health, it isn't the only significant factor in a beneficial climate. Also important is the relative amount of moisture in the air at any given time — what people are talking about when they grumble, "It isn't the heat, it's the humidity!" That's important too. For top comfort, the relative humidity should be near 50%.

And here's the value of air conditioning. In winter, when used in conjunction with heating plants that carry only dry heat, it's an important tool for regulating moisture. Through air conditioning you can enjoy a temperature of 66 degrees and a relative humidity of 50%, provided of course, that you remain indoors.

Survey: Majority Favors Health Care Legislation

By LOUIS HARRIS

By 55% to 30%, the American people would support new federal legislation providing a "comprehensive health insurance program which would combine federal government, employer, and employee contributions into one health insurance system."

President Nixon recently recommended to Congress a broadening of health insurance, which would involve payments from employers, employees, and the government, but which would be largely placed through private plans. Along with such legislation, substantial majorities of the public also favored two other key changes in the health delivery system:

—By 77-17%, Americans favor the establishment of neighborhood health centers, where a family could obtain complete health care in one place.

—By 74-15%, the public solidly supports the concept of group medicine, under which doctors conduct their practice together, rather than individually. The prevailing view is that such group practices would result in improved health care for the country.

Nixon Message

In his message on health care, President Nixon introduced the concept of "Health Maintenance Organizations," which might undertake such steps as yearly checkups and which would provide comprehensive medical care. However, the notion of neighborhood health centers, favored by 77% of the public, appears to go beyond the Nixon proposals.

By any measure, it is evident that deep public backing awaits any legislation which can legitimately promise comprehensive health care.

One of the most common complaints people have is that they have to go to many different sources to obtain different aspects of health care. They would like to find all of the medical resources necessary to health maintenance in one place, including general practitioners, internists, specialists, dentists, eye doctors, and facilities for conducting medical tests. The public is more interested in the functional services it can receive than whether such a facility is run under public or private auspices.

Although 48% conceded that they have some worries that a federal, compulsive health care system might result in their not being able to choose their own physician, a much higher 74% are willing to take their chances with a group medicine setup. The main reason for this feeling is a sense on the part of 77% that there simply "are not enough doctors in the country to serve the needs of everyone."

Preventive Medicine

Implicit in both the neighborhood health centers and in the endorsement of group practice is a large amount of public faith and confidence that preventive medicine can be extended much beyond its current bounds. The days when people worry about their health only when they feel sick appear to be coming to an end. The new public awareness in the health area is that ongoing availability of medical and health capabilities, close at hand and used at regular intervals, can go a long way toward preserving one's health and in cutting down the incidence of later serious illness.

The question on a comprehensive health insurance program was put to a cross section of 3,123 people across the country this way:

"It has been proposed that Congress pass a comprehensive health insurance program which would combine federal government, employer, and employee contributions into one health insurance system. Opponents say that would get the federal government too much into medicine and health care. Supporters say such insurance is necessary for people to obtain proper coverage. Do you favor or oppose such a comprehensive federal health insurance program?"

	Favor	Oppose	Not Sure
Nationwide	55%	30%	15%
By Income
Under $5,000	63%	17%	20%
$5,000-9,999	55%	30%	15%
$10,000 and over	50%	38%	12%

Clearly, the idea of such a federal health insurance program is most appealing to the lower-income groups. While 50% of the people with incomes over $10,000 support it, a substantial 38% do not. This relatively close division in the higher income brackets contrasts with better than 4-1 backing from persons with incomes of less than $5,000.

Part of the reason for this sharp difference lies in the fact that the lower-income persons feel more exposed and in more danger of being wiped out financially in the event of a major illness. But part also can be traced to an emergence on this health issue of old and traditional lines of division which have existed by income since the 1930's. The lower income persons look to the federal government more for basic economic security solutions, while upper income persons do not.

Thus, the health-care issue remains as one of the last political questions to divide the country along traditional lines, in contrast to the issues of Vietnam, youth, race, and environmental control, which are all part of the very different pattern of the new politics.

Coffee on an overcast morning. A scatter full of children tries a man's soul in the a.m. "He took my toothbrush!" "I did not!" "Liar! Liar! Liar!"

"Baby, baby, suck your thumb. Don't forget your bubblegum!"

I said: "Everybody shut up until I've had coffee."

The troops grab their brown paper bag lunches and depart. I cried hastily: "Don't slam the door!" Too late. Bang! Good thing I have nerves of steel. An ordinary man would collapse.

Romeo said that. A born loser. The urge to marry is never ending. Only yesterday I was sending wedding presents to friends. friends. Now I am sending wedding presents to their grown children. Now I am sending wedding presents to their grown children.

"Send them a silver fish knife," I said. I associate weddings with fish knives. Maybe it was a custom in our family.

Life is simple for the sticky porcupine. The female porcupine can only become pregnant one day a year. And only two hours in that day.

A tight schedule. (November is the month of porcupine love.) The mama porcupine must keep that day open. Cannot run down to the beauty parlor to have her quills done.

I read this in a book. The person who wrote it described the once-a-year, two hours as "spirited." I should think so.

When in doubt about weddings, I consult the social Amy Vanderbilt. How to send out announcements. How to keep father off the sauce. The role of the best man riding shotgun.

On presents: "Don't try to keep up with the Joneses," says Miss Vanderbilt.

Especially if the Joneses are loaded. "Never feel you have to match the circumstances."

"A friend with taste who knows old glass or silver can give a present that will be treasured and spend anywhere from $1 to $5 on it."

(How can you pick up a glass for a dollar these inflated days. If I drop a martini glass, better I should have cut off my arm.)

Better my friends should all be porcupines. Two hours a day. One day a year. No point in getting married for that. No time to get married.

Those wedding bells are breaking up that old bank account of mine.

I said: "Getting married? Why, they're just children!" (It is later than you think.)

I said: "What about the new life style? Why is it every kid I read about refuses to conform by marrying? But all my friends' children are square as Jack the bear."

Want a question answered? Action on something? Phone or write ACTION LINE, Sunday Journal and Star, giving name, town, daily paper (Star, Journal or Sunday) plus your request. Calls or letters from unidentified persons are not used. A pen name or initial will be used with the town if requested and if the caller or writer also provides his correct name and address.

While out driving Sunday, we followed a State of Nebraska car, license number 1206. The auto was occupied by four teenage-looking girls, all smoking. What gives? Joy riding? —C.T.P., Lincoln ACTION LINE: According to the State Motor Vehicle Dept., the state auto with license number 1206 is assigned to the Department of Institutions, specifically the Lincoln Regional Center.

According to center officials, that car was being used Sunday to transport teenage patients to the Whitehall Home for Children for recreational purposes. The patients were driven there by a center employee and often they even stop to have hamburgers and a coke someplace as part of the therapy program. It was all legitimate rather than misuse of a state auto.

Who appointed John Neihardt poet laureate of Nebraska? I think he spent more time in Missouri than in this state. —L.H., Lincoln ACTION LINE: In 1921, poet John Greisnau Neihardt was appointed Poet Laureate of the State of Nebraska by the Legislature.

Born in 1881, Neihardt moved to Wayne when he was 10-years-old. He taught in a country school for two years after graduating at age 16 from college and then moved to Bancroft where he worked with an Indian trader among the Omahas. For several years he edited a country weekly newspaper, The Bancroft Blade.

He left the Cornhusker state in 1926 and until 1933, was literary editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Then he was poet in residence and lecturer in English at the University of Missouri from 1949-1965. He makes his home now in Lincoln.

It is my understanding that LB365, up for review before the lawmakers, has an amendment that would permit rescue persons to use flashing red lights on their private cars instead of flashing blue lights. Give details. —M.L., Auburn ACTION LINE: You are late, since the bill was voted down 31-5 April 19.

LB365 is an example of how a bill can change from the language when first introduced to the final form out of committee.

The bill originally began as one to extend the privilege of having a flashing blue light on their vehicles to full-time news photographers as was the privilege of radio and television mobile units. Removal of the blue light privilege was recommended by the Public Works Committee.

The measure was rewritten to authorize use of flashing red lights by volunteer firemen, law enforcement officers and rescue squads on private vehicles. The provision of the present law allowing blue lights was removed.

When the bill to allow red lights was voted down, this meant, therefore, that the blue light provision went out also.

I have sent you a picture for your judgment. I am applying for a passport and would like to now if the picture suits the requirements. —J.E., Lincoln ACTION LINE: The picture did not meet specified requirements of the federal government for a passport. The Clerk of the District Court is sending you a list of those requirements and if you wish to visit the office, go to Room 330, Old Post Office Building.

A passport picture must be clear, a front view; full face (no full length); printed on thin, unglazed paper; not smaller than two and one-half inches by two and one-half inches nor larger than three inches by three inches; there must be a half-inch white border on the right hand side; and the picture must be able to withstand 200 degrees heat when being applied.

Needless to say, as pretty as the picture was that you mailed ACTION LINE, it was not up to federal standards for a passport.

Is there a law that says how close a farmer can plant a pasture fence? If so, how far? —Wm. F. Vrana, Linwood

ACTION LINE: Assuming you are referring to planting along state highways, ACTION LINE visited with the State Roads Department's Larry Shafer, assistant right-of-way director.

Shafer says one can plant up to the right-of-way markers which clearly indicate where state property ends and the private property begins. The markers are normally made of concrete and display the letters "ROW." They usually stick up from the ground about 12 inches and are readily seen.

Look for those markers about every 100 feet along the road, Shafer says. Their distance from the center line of the highway is determined by the design of the roadway, so the distance differs in various locations.

Wherever the markers are, you can plant up to them.

Retail Cigarette Price Schedule Is Released

State Tax Commissioner William Peters released Wednesday a schedule of minimum retail prices, reflecting the recently adopted nickel-a-pack increase, for cigarettes.

The new minimum price schedule resulted from the Legislature's override of a gubernatorial veto Tuesday of a cigarette tax increase from 8 to 13 cents a pack.

The five-cent tax increase would be used to fund a new fieldhouse for the University of Nebraska, a state office building and a recreation building at the Beatrice State Home.

The law goes into effect immediately.

Overall, Peters noted, there is a 58 cent a carton increase called for in the minimum pricing schedule, which is based on wholesale price and figured according to the state unfair pricing act requiring retailers to mark up at least 8%.

Prices, according to brands, would range from $3.75 to $3.88. The old price called for minimums, according to brands, of $3.19 to $3.52.

The per pack minimum retail price now varies from 38 cents to 39 cents, Peters said, compared to the previous 32 and 33 cents a pack.

Clayton Yeutter Guest Speaker At Law Day Lunch

Dr. Clayton Yeutter of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C. will be the featured speaker Friday noon at the Law Day, 1971, luncheon at the Cornhusker Hotel.

The former NU faculty member and administrative assistant to former Gov. Norbert Tiemann will address the luncheon on this year's theme: "Channel Change Through Law and Reason."

Law Day USA was conceived in 1957 by a joint resolution of Congress in an attempt to revitalize and make the American public aware of the vital role of law in society.

Law Day USA, 1971, will also be observed nationally under proclamation from Pres. Richard Nixon.

Wesleyan Board Adopts Student Code Of Conduct

A Code for Student Rights, Responsibility, and Conduct has been adopted by the Nebraska Wesleyan University Board of Governors.

The 11-page document enumerates a Bill of Rights and covers such other topics as classroom expression, campus organizations, publications, institutional government, demonstrations, the violation of law and university discipline, privacy, student records, sanctions, prescribed conduct, procedural standards in discipline proceedings, and judicial authority.

The Code of Conduct, as it is known, was the result of work by students, faculty administrators and board members during the past three years.

"This is a valuable document for the whole campus," according to Dr. Milton Evans, dean of students. "It puts down in writing for the first time the rights and responsibilities of students."

Steve Fosler, student senator who worked on the document, said "it is a compromise acceptable to all parties. It's not a static code. It can be changed."

Lover Sought Wrong Virginia

Williamsburg, Va. (AP)—Not everybody has heard of Gov. Linwood Holton's new slogan promoting the beauty and history of the state: "Virginia Is for Lovers."

A Historic Garden Week hostess here wearing the slogan on a lapel button was approached Wednesday by a male visitor, who looked around and inquired eagerly: "Who's Virginia?"

Airport Authority Approves Bids On Improvements

The Airport Authority met in special session Wednesday to approve bids relating to the improvement of airport facilities.

Largest bid was for the pavement overlay and marking of the northwest-southeast and the north-south runways. The Airport Authority awarded the project to Abel Construction Co., who had bid $819,633.

The construction firm was also awarded the contract for removal of a building in the area of the northwest-southeast runway, bidding $16,500 for the project.

Lighting for the diagonal runway was awarded to Commonwealth Electric Co., which submitted a low bid of $73,198.

All three bids were below the estimates of the engineering firm hired to consult the Airport Authority in connection with the airport improvements.

The bids must still be approved by the Federal Aviation Administration, since 50% of the costs will be borne out of federal funds.

Wentz Heating and Air Conditioning was also awarded the contract to provide heating and air conditioning for the terminal building concourse. The firm had bid $12,760 on the project.

Picasso Says End To Exile Rumors False

©The New York Times

Nice, France — Those reports that Pablo Picasso would end his 34-year-old self-imposed exile from Spain on June 10 are absolutely false, the artist said here.

"Out of the question," he said. "Periodically they announce down there my next visit. It's false. . . I will never go again to Spain, at least as long as my native country is under the hand of the Franco regime."

Government OKs Construction Bid On Interstate 80

The Department of Roads reported Wednesday the federal government has approved an Interstate 80 highway construction project east of Kimball.

The department said the 2.1-mile project estimated at $1.5 million will be contracted in a special May 13 letting.

It was originally scheduled for letting last October, but the project was held up pending a Federal Highway Administration review because it involved a stretch of public recreational land.

The department said federal approval came after a visit by Gov. J. J. Exon to Washington, where he urged earlier federal review so that the project could be completed this construction season.

Indian Center Inc. Seeking A New Executive Director

The Indian Center Inc. is looking for a new executive director to replace Ralph Ware, who resigned early this month.

Barratt Hodgkin, a VISTA worker and acting director of the center, said Ware resigned for personal reasons on April 8. Ware had been reported ill for several months.

Before becoming director in July, 1970, he was a member of the Board of Directors of the American Indian Center in Omaha.

Hodgkin said a new director should be announced by at least the end of May.

The center has been advertising for applicants and already has received six resumes for the director position which pays approximately $800 a month.

"It is hard to find people qualified to handle urban Indian work," Hodgkin noted. He said applicants should be experienced in working with both Indian and Office of Economic Opportunity programs.

He also said it would be helpful if applicants had knowledge of the Indian tribes and reservations in Nebraska and South Dakota.

Bus System Takeover Agrees With Comprehensive Plan

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday gave its approval to the city's application for federal funds for taking over and providing a bus system as not being in conflict with the comprehensive plan.

The Planning Commission must review all applications for federal aid regarding physical developments under its designation by the federal government as the are a planning agency.

Planning Director Doug Brodgen said that while the commission has no veto power, it must submit its recommendation to the federal government before funds can be authorized.

Commissioners also approved the transit study done by the consulting firm of Simpson &

Curtin of Philadelphia as a supplement to the comprehensive plan, emphasizing the need of transit service and the bus routes.

Willis Hecht, representing developer James Strauss, requested that a proposed change of zone from A-1 to A-2 Single Family in the vicinity of 74th to 80th south of South St. be withdrawn.

Hecht said Strauss wants to rework the application and come up with something that will be more acceptable.

The rezoning had been strongly opposed by area residents, particularly the Citizens for City Planning, and recommended for denial by Brodgen.

The commission also recommended the following actions:

—Approval of special permit to construct and operate a loading dock at 48th and Cleveland, requested by Ray Judds.

—Denial of change of zone from A-2 Rural and Public Use to H-2 Highway

Commercial on property on south side of West O near S.W. 40th, requested by Gerald Lewis.

—Denial of change of zone from A-1 Single Family to G Local Business on property south of O St. at Lyncrest Dr., requested by Fabric Supermarket.

—Approval of special permit to permit members of religious order to occupy a house adjacent to St. Elizabeth's, requested by Sisters of Mt. St. Francis.

—Approval of special permit to construct a parking lot on property north of Randolph on 27th, requested by Paramount Laundry and Textile Services.

—Approval of special permit to develop a community unit plan on property north of Adams St. between 10th and Milton and preliminary plat of North Side Village 2nd Addn. in that area.

—Approval of amendment to land subdivision ordinance relating to development of flood plains.

Group Reduces HISC Budget

Washington (UPI) — The House Administration Committee, rejecting a move to cut off all funds, voted 11 to 7 to reduce the House Internal Security Committee's operating budget by one-third.

The vote, if upheld by the House, would cut the committee's budget for the current calendar year from $670,000 to $450,000.

Police Work To Prevent Gang Warfare In Lincoln

Chief of Detectives Robert Sawdon stressed Wednesday at a news conference that the police would use everything within their power to prevent any gang warfare in Lincoln.

He made the remark in reference to a fight apparently planned at Belmont Park Tuesday evening which never materialized.

Sawdon said a group of white youths had congregated to battle with some Negroes who did not show up.

Sawdon said the incident was a "planned and prepared warfare operation," and police, having advance information, were prepared for it with police officers stationed in the area and the police helicopter overhead.

He said the series of events leading up to the incident at Belmont Park started early Saturday morning when some blacks tried to crash a party at 22nd and A. At that time Josephus Pickett, 17, of 2250 Potter was allegedly stabbed in the neck and abdomen.

Following that on Monday was a fistfight between a black and a white pupil at Lincoln High and then the planned retaliation by white teenagers at Belmont Park.

Two Youths Charged In Park Incident

Two of five Lincoln youths jailed Tuesday night after police answered a call about a possible fight in Belmont Park were charged in Lincoln Municipal Court Wednesday while the others were referred to the Juvenile Court.

One youth, charged with disturbing the peace, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and sentenced to 20 days in jail.

The second youth pleaded innocent to a charge of using foul and indecent language and trial was set for June 26.

According to police, several guns, tools and clubs confiscated from the rafters of the shelter house in the park were apparently to be used in a fight stemming from an incident which occurred earlier in the week at Lincoln High School.

Two Teacher Organizations Seeking Court Settlement

Two more teachers organizations have asked the Nebraska Court of Industrial Relations to settle what they contend are "industrial disputes" with their respective school boards over contract negotiations.

The suits were filed by the Hastings Education Association against the Hastings School Board and the Milford Education Association against the Milford School Board.

Both teachers groups, in asking that the court take jurisdiction of the cases and order some type of resolutions, contend that base salary schedules for next year are one of the points on which they and the school boards cannot reach agreement.

Both suits contend an "industrial impasse" exists and ask a court order to require that the deadlocks be broken.

Both teacher associations were represented by attorney Theodore Kessner of Lincoln.

Ex-Congressman Is Set To Speak On NU Campus

Former U.S. Congressman Allard Lowenstein, who was one of the leaders of the "dump-Johnson" movement in 1968, is set to speak on the University of Nebraska campus next month.

Fritz Edelstein, a member of the NU Coalition for Peace and Justice, said Lowenstein will speak at the Nebraska Union Centennial Room.

The talk on "America at the turning point" is tentatively set to begin at 3:30 p.m., he said. A press conference will be held an hour earlier.

Lowenstein, who served as a representative from New York, now teaches at Yale University.

He is one of a bipartisan group of liberals who are visiting states which will have presidential primaries in 1972, Edelstein said.

Methodist Bishop Asks All Pastors To Ring Bells

Bishop Noah W. Moore Jr., Episcopal leader of nearly 15,000 United Methodists in Nebraska, has requested all local United Methodist Church pastors to ring church bells for an hour Saturday in a "call to repentance and renewal."

"Our nation is sorely troubled," Bishop Moore said in a statement originally written by leaders of several denominations. "We believe this to be a sickness of the spirit."

The statement asks that people gather at their accustomed places of worship "to pray, fast and repent."

ELM TREE FALLS OVER AND DIES

Haverhill, Mass. (AP) — The Whittier elm, a 300-year-old tree described often in the poems of John Greenleaf Whittier, fell over and died Tuesday.

City officials said the tree had been hit by Dutch Elm disease 15 years ago and appeared increasingly fragile in recent months.

Four Wesleyan Students Included In Research Plan

Four Nebraska Wesleyan University students will participate this summer in an Undergraduate Research Participation program funded with a $4,800 grant from the National Science Foundation.

They are Mike Buess, Beatrice junior; Stan Somers, Wichita, Kan., sophomore; Mark Hall, Rising City sophomore; and Randy Renter, Plainview junior.

Two research areas will be covered in the program, according to Dr. Walter French Jr., professor of physics.

One is the application of neutron activation analysis and high resolution gamma ray spectroscopy to the study of low-level pollutants in Nebraska water.

The other is the study of the applications of fast neutron activation analysis to practical local and regional problems.

Arnold Grant Divorces Wife Bess Myerson

•The New York Times

New York — New York City Commissioner of Consumer Affairs Bess Myerson Grant was divorced Wednesday by Arnold M. Grant.

The divorce was granted by Supreme Court Justice Morris E. Spector under conditions of exceptional secrecy, in which the grounds for the action were not disclosed and the proceedings were barred to the press.

Grant's lawyers said in a statement that the former Miss America had withdrawn her defense to Grant's divorce actions and her claims for "separation, alimony, counsel fees and a property settlement."

N.Y. Firm Suggested For NU Study

The firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget, Inc., of New York City has been recommended to conduct a study of the administrative organization and management of the University of Nebraska.

James H. Moylan of Omaha, chairman of the special Board of Regents subcommittee, announced that the recommendation will go before the board for approval in Omaha on May 8.

Serving with Moylan on the subcommittee were Kermit Hansen of Omaha and Kermit Wagner of Schuyler.

Chancellor D. B. Varner recommended to the board on March 11 that such a management study be made of university operations. The University of Nebraska Foundation will underwrite the cost of the study, at a total cost of $50,000.

"There is a particular need to examine the ways to coordinate and to integrate those functions and operations of the three campuses and the outstate activities which comprise the University of Nebraska System with the goal of making every dollar provided a wise investment for the taxpayers of the State and to be sure that we are achieving the maximum possible output for each dollar of input," the Chancellor said.

The overall objective of the study will be to offer constructive proposals to aid the university in making maximum use of its resources, people, finances and facilities. The study will include a comprehensive audit of the organization for management and administration and a detailed review of the systems, procedures and operations of the non-academic activities.

An advisory committee of about 16 members will be named soon to consult and advise with the New York firm which has done work with many educational groups including the University of Minnesota, Southern Illinois University, Dartmouth College, Penn State University, Stanford University and the State University of New York.

Court Rules Australian Aborigines Have No Title To Tribal Lands

Thursday, April 29, 1971 The Lincoln Star 11

The New York Times
London Times Dispatch
Canberra—Australia's 160,000 aborigines have no legal title to their ancient tribal lands, ac-ording to a historic judgment handed down in the supreme court of the Northern Territory at Alice Springs.

Justice Richard Blackburn found that the government's mining agreement with the huge

Swiss-Austrian consortium Nabalco was valid. Nabalco will continue to develop its $340 million alumina-bauxite project near Yirrkala, about 400 miles east of Darwin.
Aborigines and their many friends throughout Australia were very disheartened. An appeal could be made to the High Court of Australia.

The judgment must make all other aboriginal land claims hopeless in law, although some experts detect in one part of the judgment a hint that parliamentary or executive action on behalf of the aborigines would be appropriate.
Blackburn found that there was some association between a particular bit of land and one group of aborigines but no rule of law required him to recognize the association. This is reportedly the thread on which aboriginal hopes now lie although nothing will make them understand the ruling.

During the case sacred relics were produced as title deeds and 10 aboriginal leaders gave evidence with dignity and authority. Anthropologists also appeared as witnesses.

They did have a system of law, the judgment said, but their relationship with the land was not sufficiently economic for it to amount to a proprietary interest. The judgment ran to 260 pages and followed a hearing that lasted almost a year. Both sides showed they had made a minute study of Australian history since 1788.

Lincoln Needs Peterson to do what a Mayor should do

Problem: taxes

Residential property taxes have increased at a fantastic rate over the past four years.

Erv Peterson's Solution:

- ★ Relieve the property tax by levying a job tax on the people who live outside Lincoln, but work in Lincoln. Let them help pay for the city facilities they use.
- ★ Expand local industry faster and attract more desirable industry from outside Lincoln to locate here.

Vote May 4!

Elect Peterson Mayor!

Chambers: Democracy Is Being Killed

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha Wednesday told a group of visitors that "democracy is systematically being killed" in the legislative bodies in which it was once born.

Chambers offered his observation in introducing the group on a point of personal privilege, promoting Sens. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and Richard Proud of Omaha to respond to his remarks.

"I don't see why it is always necessary whether we agree or not to entirely degrade this body for a personal purpose," Carpenter objected.

Points To Record

But Chambers said his

"responsibility is to tell the truth as I see it," and he is willing to "let the record speak for itself."

Proud said the nation has "come a long ways since the days of slavery" and that progress should be recognized.

"I get frustrated down here too," he said. "But it is not true that everything is bad."

Balcony Visit

Following that exchange, Chambers left the floor to visit with the group in the legislative balcony.

That brought Sen. Elmer Wallway of Emerson to his feet, asking Lt. Gov. Frank Marsh to instruct the sergeant-at-arms to bring Chambers back to his seat since the Legislature was in the stage of final reading.

Senators are required to remain in their seats when bills are read in full for the final time before a vote is taken on enactment.

From the balcony, Chambers suggested that he simply be asked to return to the floor.

"Will you take your seat?" Marsh asked.

"Certainly, Mr. President," Chambers replied. He then returned to the floor for the remainder of final reading.

Later, Chambers gained unanimous consent to withdraw LB389, his bill to hold cities liable for the actions of their police officers.

Chambers had filed a motion to withdraw the bill after the Legislature on Tuesday killed his bill to provide for district election of school board members.

Students Counted

London (AP) — British universities had 219,000 full-time students in 1969, nearly 72% of them men, and more than half were majoring in science, a government report said.

Study Proposed Of Service Units

The Legislature Wednesday was asked to set up an interim study committee to look into the responsibilities of Educational Service Units (ESU).

The request was made through the introduction of a resolution which was laid over one day and will be considered Thursday.

By The Associated Press
Nebraska's "Good Samaritan" law, heretofore applicable only to medical doctors, was extended by the Legislature Wednesday to apply to all citizens.

Passage of LB458 means that any person may stop at the scene of an accident and render voluntary assistance without being held liable for any civil damages. The law previously had applied only to licensed medical practitioners.

Backers said fear of being sued has kept persons from getting involved in emergency assistance when it would have been helpful.

The bill, LB458, was sponsored by Sens. Wally Barnett of Lincoln and William H. Hasebrook of West Point and was approved 46-0 on final reading.

Also passed Wednesday was a bill designed to help small towns obtain doctors and dentists.

Under terms of LB497, any second class city or village may provide financial aid to potential medical and dental students on a promise of the student to practice in the community when his schooling is finished. The money would be repaid after the doctor or dentist became established in his practice.

LB497 was sponsored by Sens. Calvin F. Carsten of Avoca and Wayne W. Ziebarth of Wilcox and was approved 45-0 in its final test.

License Suspension Bill
Another among 16 bills passed on final reading was Lincoln Sen. Ferne Orme's LB402, designed to provide uniformity in suspension of a driver's license for driving with one-tenth of one per cent or more of alcohol in the blood.

LB402, passed 44-0, provides that the same penalty shall apply when a person is prosecuted under a city ordinance as when prosecution is made under state law.

The list of bills.

—Providing that municipal ordinances which have not been submitted to a popular vote shall take effect 15 days after passage. LB282, Orme, Barnett, Swanson, 45-0.

—Prescribing that persons prosecuted for drunk driving under a city ordinance shall be subject to same penalties as for prosecution under state law. LB 402, (E), Orme, Barnett, Warner, 44-0.

—Authorizing governing bodies of villages or Class II school districts to call caucuses for nomination of candidates. LB432, Ziebarth, 45-0.

—Relieving from liability for civil damages any person who renders emergency care at the scene of an accident. LB458, Barnett, Hasebrook, 46-0.

Senators Refuse To Quit Singing 'Happy Birthday'

Nebraska's lawmakers aren't ready yet to stop singing "Happy Birthday" songs to one another.

Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha moved Wednesday to halt the traditional practice of singing the songs to senators as their birthdays occur.

But the lawmakers, after generally agreeing that the quality of the singing leaves something to be desired but shows that senatorial hearts are in the right place, voted down the Goodrich motion, 18-7.

Actor Nominated

Hollywood (UPI) — "The Selling of the Pentagon," the controversial documentary, and George C. Scott, the controversial actor, were nominated for Emmy awards for excellence in television.

The Legislature adopted a resolution Wednesday asking the State Parole Board review records of those persons who are now serving sentences for insufficient or no account checks.

The resolution, offered by Neligh Sen. John DeCamp, resulted from the passage of the law recently which changes the dividing line used in determining whether felony or misdemeanor charges are filed in check cases.

The law establishes $75 as the division point, replacing the previous $35 point.

DeCamp said there are now about 122 inmates who would be affected by the resolution. By moving them out of prison on parole, he said it would save the state about $250,000.

The resolution was adopted on a 25-5 vote.

The law, he said, is not retroactive but said special consideration should be given to those persons now serving who were convicted using the old dividing line.

Flaws Diminishing

Des Moines (UPI) — The chairman of the Iowa Merit Employment Commission said the state is on the road to ironing out the flaws in its merit system.

University Students Announce Plan For 3 Days Of Antiwar Activities

University of Nebraska students are planning three days of antiwar activities next week to coincide with national observances of the first anniversary of the killings at Kent State University and Jackson State.

The activities will be capped by a memorial service Wednesday morning, followed by a march to the State Capitol to participate in an open hearing on State Sen. John DeCamp's Vietnam disengagement resolution.

Graduate student Fritz Edelstein, a member of the NU Coalition for Peace and Justice, said faculty members are being asked to declare a one-day moratorium on classes on Wednesday to allow students to participate in the events.

Free Cut Asked

He said those who prefer to hold classes as scheduled are being asked to allow students to miss them without penalty.

The events will begin Monday night with a fund-raising dance at the Nebraska Union from 6:30 to 11 p.m.

On Tuesday night, a candlelight march around the campus will begin at the Union's South entrance at 10 p.m.

Then on Wednesday, a full day's activities will begin with a silent vigil from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Terminal Building at 10th and O. The building houses State Selective Services offices.

Memorial Service Set

From noon to 1 p.m. a memorial service for those who died at Jackson State and Kent State and for Indochina war casualties will be held at the fountain on the campus.

The march to the Statehouse down 14th Street is set for 1 p.m.

The open hearing, sponsored by DeCamp and Nebraskans for peace, will begin on the Capitol's north steps at 1:30 p.m.

DeCamp, a freshman senator from Neligh who began his campaign by mail from his Army assignment in Vietnam, announced he would hold the hearing after the Legislature rejected his resolution calling for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by next year.

The NU student senate Wednesday endorsed the three days' of activities, which will coincide with antiwar activities last year which included an occupation of a campus building and a boycott of classes. Those activities came in the wake of the incursion into Cambodia, an event which brought disruption on campuses nationwide.

Committee Kills Bill To Increase Retirement Pay

A proposed constitutional amendment to permit the state to increase retirement benefit payments as the cost of living rises or falls was killed Wednesday by the Legislature's Retirement Systems Committee.

The bill was LB531, sponsored by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha.

The measure would have allowed for cost of living increases to take care of inflation.

Also killed by the committee was LB555, a bill to provide retirement benefits for widows of retired judges.

Resolution Aimed At Expansion Of Amtrak Rejected

The Legislature rejected Wednesday afternoon a resolution its author said was aimed at expanding the proposed Amtrak, formerly Railpax, service in Nebraska.

The lawmakers voted 22-9 to turn down the resolution, offered by Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island.

Specifically, it asked the federal government delay the May 1 effective date for the system at least 30 days. Elrod said the additional time could be used to study expanded service proposals.

Student Loan Fund Bill Given Initial Approval

By The Associated Press
A potentially landmark bill authorizing long-term, low-interest loans to Nebraska high school graduates who wish to go to college won overwhelming first-round approval Wednesday in the Legislature.

The measure is LB152 sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff who told the senators "Nebraska has a chance to become a pilot plan for the entire nation."

The bill would authorize the Nebraska Investment Council to make the loans from council funds although the interest and principle of the loans would be guaranteed by the federal government, meaning, in effect, the state would be taking little or no chance on losing money.

Carpenter had earlier raised the bill onto the floor after it was killed by the Banking Committee. It had been stalled for almost three months on general file, or first-stage consideration.

Carpenter had been holding off consideration of the bill, awaiting an amendment by Sen. Glenn Goodrich of Omaha.

Goodrich offered his amendment Wednesday, providing that the State College Board of Trustees would be the state agency which would service the loans once they were made.

The Goodrich alteration was adopted and the measure then was advanced from general file by a 32-1 vote.

Carpenter had earlier estimated the bill's enactment into law might provide up to $300 million for student loans.

Judge Orders Integration Of Penitentiary East Cell House

U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom has ordered that the East Cell House in the state penitentiary should be integrated to house inmates of all races; thereby breaking a half-century tradition of segregating black and white prisoners at the complex's living quarters.

Basing his decision on a 1954 Supreme Court ruling in the landmark case Brown vs. Board of Education which ordered public school integration, Urbom said that the decision "will stand dismissed" unless the inmates amend their complaint to make it a class action.

The suit had been filed in U.S. District Court by inmates Charles McClelland and Curtis Rowland, both convicted murderers, against Warden Maurice Sigler.

Allowed Time

Judge Urbom allowed the inmates until May 6 to make the required amendment and said that at that time "the court will determine whether there then is a proper class action and determine the appropriate relief."

McClelland and Rowland had charged that living quarters assigned to blacks in the penal complex are inferior to those for whites.

Black inmates have further charged that the prison administration is racially prejudiced and that this is the reason for giving inferior living quarters to blacks.

Fear Trouble

According to prison officials, the reason for the exclusion of the blacks from the East Cell House is the conviction on their part that "trouble would result in which people would be hurt if blacks lived in the East Cell House."

Sigler testified at the trial that there are about 50 whites at the penal complex who are resolutely opposed to living with blacks.

To this, Urbom stated that

"an image of the whole penal system of Nebraska being held at bay by 50 men is unacceptable."

Made Clear

The federal judge made it clear that prisoners who threaten violence will "feel the weight of the consequence of their own bigotry."

Warden Sigler also testified that he has no prejudice against any person because of the color of that person's skin and he would have blacks in the East Cell House if it were safe to do so.

He said, however, that this "would cause uncontrollable trouble."

Judge Responds

Responding to the state's argument that integration will cause violence, Judge Urbom quoted a high court opinion which found that peace "cannot be accomplished by laws which deny rights created by the federal constitution."

Urbom further said that the "segregation of people on the sole basis of race is destructive to those in the minority. Furthermore, respect for the law cannot be achieved by a denial of the equal protection of the law to those of a minority race because of their race."

Court observers said Wednesday that it appears likely that the state will appeal Urbom's decision to the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo.

Neither Warden Sigler nor Asst. Atty. Gen. Harold Masher would comment on the case.

Urbom's decision runs counter to a 1967 opinion by Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt, but Urbom noted that the prisoners involved in the 1967 case had not contended that the living quarters for white inmates were more comfortable than those for blacks.

Exon Is Presented Petitions Protesting POW Treatment

Petitions signed by 32,000 Nebraskans protesting the inhumane treatment of prisoners of war by North Vietnam were presented Wednesday to Gov. J. James Exon during ceremonies in the Capitol's rotunda.

Exon promised to forward the petitions, which seek the intervention of the world's governmental leaders on behalf of American prisoners, to the Nebraska congressional delegation for appropriate disposition.

Urging all Nebraskans to show concern for the American prisoners and missing in action and their families in their prayers, Exon led the assembled group in prayer.

Sen. William H. Hasebrook, speaker of the Legislature, read one of the two resolutions adopted by the Unicameral in recent months on behalf of war prisoners in Southeast Asia.

Against the background of a replica of a North Vietnam cell with an American prisoner of war, several wives and parents of Nebraska servicemen now imprisoned in Southeast Asia were introduced.

Mrs. Dennis Thomte of Omaha, representing the Nebraska Chapter of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing Action in Southeast Asia League, said 1,600 U.S. servicemen are now classified as prisoners of war or missing in action, but the Saigon Government has released the names of only 450.

She said prayers and positive action by the American people are bringing pressures on the Saigon government and enlisting world opinion for humane treatment of war prisoners in Southeast Asia.

In accepting the petitions from Lloyd Kilmer, president of the Forgotten American War Prisoners Committee, Exon said he was "proud to accept this indication by Nebraskans that they haven't forgotten."

Farm Machinery Operator Permits Available May 5

The Department of Motor Vehicles will begin issuing temporary permits to 13-to-15-year-olds for operating farm machinery on the public roads about May 5, Director John W. Kissack said Wednesday.

Kissack said the temporary permits will be issued to "accommodate this spring's farming operations" while the department is setting up an examination program for issuance of special permits this fall.

Both types of permits were authorized under the 1971 Legislature's LB725 requiring the licensing of youthful operators of farm equipment on the public roads.

Applications for the six-month permit will be available about May 5 from the department, any license examiner, or county treasurer's office, Kissack said.

The application together with a $1 fee must be mailed to the department for issuance of a temporary permit, good for six months.

Kissack said the department will begin issuing special permits, which will be valid until the applicant reaches the age of 16, this fall.

To qualify for this special permit, the applicant must undergo a complete examination, including a vision test, a test on the rules of the road, and a test on the operation of a tractor or similar farm machinery.

Kissack said both the temporary and special permits will be issued directly from the motor vehicles department and will be mailed to applicants.

The statutory fee for the special permit is $2. This permit will be available to all applicants upon the expiration of the temporary permit.

Hospital Project Bids Set

Bids will be opened May 25 for a project to complete medical facilities on the fifth floor of Lincoln General Hospital, according to action Wednesday by the hospital's board of trustees.

Board President J. Herbert Hopkins said May 5 has been set as the date for bid specifications to go to contractors.

Architects, he said, have estimated the net construction cost for the project at $1.3 million.

The new facilities, which will be housed in one of three "shell" floors built at the time of the hospital's construction, will include a 14-bed coronary-intensive care unit, Hopkins said.

The other three "pods" will house medical-surgical beds, he said.

Although the hospital is not asking for outside financial help in the project, Hopkins said the plans were reviewed by the state in case Hill-Burton funds are sought for future expansion into the other two floors.

Hopkins said occupancy at the hospital remains high.

In other matters, the trustees set May 13 as the date for a recognition dinner for the hospital auxiliary and were told that the medical staff had endorsed plans for an alcoholism treatment unit set to be in operation by mid-June.

Bomb Explodes Outside Bank In California

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — A pipe bomb exploded outside the Bank of America branch at Kaiser Center in Oakland Wednesday, shattering a dozen windows and hurling fragments through the bank interior and through a second wall into the building lobby.

There were no injuries from the blast, which a bank spokesman described as "one of the worst" in a series of recent bombings at Bank of America branches throughout California.

Oakland police said two young men were seen "hurriedly leaving the scene" in what was believed to be a 1957 sedan.

Officials estimated damage at $7,000 to $10,000 to the bank in the lobby of the 33-story Kaiser Center, which overlooks Lake Merritt.

'Hank The Robot' E-Week Greeter

"Hank" the robot is welcoming visitors to the University of Nebraska's E-Week Open House this year.

Named for Associate Professor Henry L. Ablin, the robot is one of 50 exhibits on view during the engineering school's traditional open house.

This year's tour of the school began Wednesday evening and will continue Thursday from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m. The tours start at the corner of 14th and Vine Sts.

A special highlight of E-Week will be a talk by William Lear, famous designer and inventor, at the Student Union 11 a.m. Thursday. He is best known for developing the Lear Jet.

Ablin's students, who have been working on the radio-controlled robot all semester, said the robot's name is a well-earned surprise for the professor.

The robot looks like a movable cabinet and for a head and face, it has a television camera and a decorative light on top.

Besides moving around and taking TV pictures, hopefully the robot also is communicating with the visitors.

Russ Johnson, 23, a senior majoring in electrical engineering from Oakland, said early Wednesday the robot was equipped with microphones for talking and listening, but he wasn't sure it would work.

Johnson said "Hank" has two motors with seven speeds each, a dozen individualized, small circuit boards for special functions and 70 integrated circuits.

"This is the type of robot the Russians used on the moon except ours is much more simplified," he said. "Someday we all might have one to do errands around the house."

Other exhibits include an electrostatic generator, a demonstration of the freeze-drying process of food preservation and a display of improved forms of insulation used in construction.

There is also a pump-storage electricity generating system, an industrial atmospheric conditions test and irrigation system.

Board Donates Bronze Marker To Lincoln High

A bronze historical marker honoring Lincoln High School's 100th year will be set in concrete in the new centennial mall, according to Board of Education President Robert Wekesser.

Wekesser announced that the marker will be given to the school by the board to symbolize "the dedication of hundreds of teachers and staff members who over the years have contributed to the great history and tradition of the school."

Carrying the Lincoln High centennial seal and the school board seal, the marker will say: "In Recognition-Lincoln High School-100 Years of Service to The Youth of Lincoln, Nebraska-1871-1971."

BURLINGTON SALES DOWN

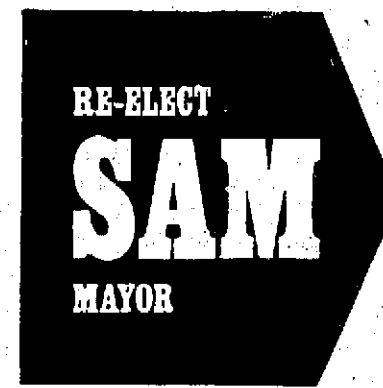

New York (AP) — Burlington Industries, the nation's largest textile manufacturing chain, reported Wednesday that its net sales are down for the first three months of 1971.

Burlington said its net sales dropped 2.5%, from $457,768,000 during the first three months of 1970 to $446,225,000 for the 1971 first quarter.

Consolidated earnings for the just ended quarter were $12,131,000, a decrease of 36.5% from earnings of $19,101,000 for the same period a year ago.

Earnings per share were 46 cents compared to 73 cents for the first quarter of 1970.

ITV Proposal Gets Initial OK

By The Associated Press
A bill placing the responsibility for instructional Educational Television (ITV) in Nebraska under the State Education Department won first-round approval Wednesday in the Legislature.

An amended LB404, introduced by Sen. William Swanson of Lincoln, was advanced 33-2 from general file, the first stage of legislative scrutiny.

The bill deals only with the instructional, or classroom, portion of educational television programming and does not affect the nighttime entertainment function of educational television.

Presently school districts using ITV must belong to one of two councils set up for that purpose — one in the Omaha area and one outstate. The cost to the district is $2.10 and $2 per pupil respectively.

Under the Swanson measure, a division within the Education Department would be established for the sole purpose of providing ITV throughout the state.

Snowmobile Licensing Bill Gets General File Approval

A comprehensive bill controlling the licensing and use of snowmobiles won unanimous general file approval Wednesday in the Legislature.

LB330, sponsored by Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh, was amended by the Public Works Committee and again on the floor by Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice before being advanced.

The measure places the responsibility for licensing the tracked vehicles with the State Motor Vehicles Department. The committee had amended the bill to provide that the Game and Parks Commission would control registration but the Carstens amendment returned it to the Motor Vehicles Department.

Under provisions of the bill, all snowmobiles must be registered at an annual cost of $8.

The vehicles may not be operated on the highway itself but may be used on the adjacent right of way during daylight hours, according to the bill. They may cross highways, anytime providing the vehicles comes to a complete stop and crosses at a 90 degree angle.

Under the Carstens amendment adopted earlier Wednesday, hunting wild animals or birds from a snowmobile would be prohibited. A $100 fine is provided for violation of this section with enforcement delegated to any peace officers including Game and Parks Commission conservation officers.

Queen Elizabeth Leaves For A Rest

•The New York Times

London — Plagued by a cold for the past month, Queen Elizabeth left Buckingham Palace for her country home at Sandringham, with the hope that three days rest there might help shake the illness.

It would coordinate with the present Nebraska Educational Television Network.

Controversy arose over the funding of this division. The bill, as advanced, provides that a $2 per pupil charge would be deducted from each school district's state aid to education allotment. However, an amendment by Sen. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell was adopted 19-8 which would exclude those districts which are physically unable to receive the television signal because of terrain features.

Swanson, in offering the amendment for a flat $2 per pupil cost, said the larger schools would pay the brunt of the cost while some of the smaller districts would get the service for "nearly nothing."

Some senators said they felt districts shouldn't have to pay for ITV if they don't want it, even if they are physically able to receive the signal.

An additional Swanson amendment was adopted to provide that the education department will provide the printed materials which go along with ITV programs and will sell them at cost to the school districts.

Duncan Resigns Institutions Post

State Institutions Director Donald W. Duncan submitted his resignation Wednesday to Gov. J. James Exon.

Duncan, who was appointed to the state post in April, 1967, by former Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, asked his resignation become effective in mid-May.

Exon confirmed receiving Duncan's resignation, but said he had no further comment.

Asked if he had a replacement in mind for Duncan, the governor said he would "probably make an announcement within the next few days."

Duncan, 58, had been associate administrator of St. Elizabeth Hospital in Lincoln when named state institutions director by Tiemann.

He was the second person to serve as director of institutions since the old Board of Control was abolished in 1961. Under the Tiemann administration, the department was reorganized to include a deputy director for corrections, Maurice Sigler, and deputy director for medical services, Dr. Robert G. Osborne.

Exon has announced the reappointment of Sigler, but has made no announcement as to Dr. Osborne.

Duncan said he asked his resignation become effective in mid-May, but said the specific date "would depend upon the governor."

He said he had no announcement to make about his future plans, but that he has enjoyed his position with the state as a "very interesting experience."

14 Wilderness Areas Asked

(C) Washington Star

Washington —President Nixon asked Congress Wednesday to set aside 14 new wilderness areas across the nation.

All the lands are part of national parks and other federal areas, but their designation as wilderness areas would assure that they will be kept free from any development whatsoever, even roads or campsites.

The proposed areas involve parts of nine states, including four — Virginia, Utah, Louisiana and Ohio — which now have no protected wilderness areas.

In submitting the proposal to Congress, Nixon urged quick legislative action. "We owe it both to ourselves and to future generations to safeguard as much of primitive America as we can, and time is not on our side."

If approved the new wilderness proposals would expand the present system by 18 million acres, raising the total from 101 to 119 million acres.

Stand On Public Issues Is Urged

Lancaster County Democrats Wednesday pointed to a number of issues which they believe city election candidates should concern themselves with prior to next week's election.

County Chairman Charles Pallesen of Lincoln said the issues were identified by a committee headed by Dan Schlitt. They include:

- election of City Council members by district, rather than citywide.
- revision of the city's comprehensive planning document, with an evaluation of projected needs for sanitation, transportation, schools and recreation.
- a requirement that contractors hired by the city and other organizations doing business with the city be nondiscriminatory in their hiring practices.
- the granting of liquor licenses for public or private organizations and establishments which discriminate on the basis of race or otherwise.

- improved police-community relations, and higher salaries and educational advancement for police officers.
- enforcement of the minimum housing code.
- the bus bond issue.

The bond issue, Pallesen said, "should receive a 'yes' vote by all desiring clean, modern, safe, comfortable city-owned public transportation."

Participating in the meeting were representatives of the University of Nebraska and the USDA research program.

Barbee said federal officials indicated any relinquishment of lands and buildings used by the experiment station would be coordinated with special permits of the various federal and state agencies involved.

Last year a plan was unveiled for major development of Fort Robinson as a tourist site and recreational area at a cost of $6 million.

The proposed complex would be co-owned and operated by the commission, State Historical Society, and the University of Nebraska.

The research station inhabits several buildings belonging to the old fort proper and personnel live in the old officer quarters.

The beef research station, now operated by the university under USDA sponsorship, is being moved to the Hastings area.

USDA Beef Station Phase-Out Discussed

State and federal officials conferred Wednesday regarding the phase-out of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beef Research Station in the proposed Fort Robinson Recreational Complex.

State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee said the meeting was "largely exploratory and no specific timetable was discussed."

A Weekend Of Dining And Dancing

MISS CAROL LYONS

Of special interest to University of Nebraska campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lyons of McCook, of the engagement of their daughter, Carol Diane, to Dr. Gary Michael Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brad Dolan, also of McCook.

The wedding is planned for August.

Miss Lyons, who attended the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, will be graduated in June with a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing. Miss Lyons is a member of the Nebraska State Student Nurses Association curriculum committee, and also serves on the Student Council at the University of Nebraska School of Nursing.

Dr. Dolan is a graduate of the Creighton University Medical School and now is resident surgeon at Highland Alameda County Hospital in Oakland, Calif. He is a member of Phi Rho Sigma medical fraternity of which he is a past president.

It will be "salud dinero y amor" on Friday evening when the members of the Cotillion Club dine and dance at the Lincoln Country Club. You may have guessed that the party theme is "Mexican Fiesta," which has been planned by a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Ted O'Shea and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Perry.

To make the festivity even more authentic it seems that the Monterey Brass has been called for duty during the dining and dancing.

Even though they may be greeted at the party as 'amigos,' we'll just call them guests, and the group of guest couples includes Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moulton, Mr. and Mrs. John Olsson, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Dworsky, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Roper, Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gerleman, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Andros and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stein.

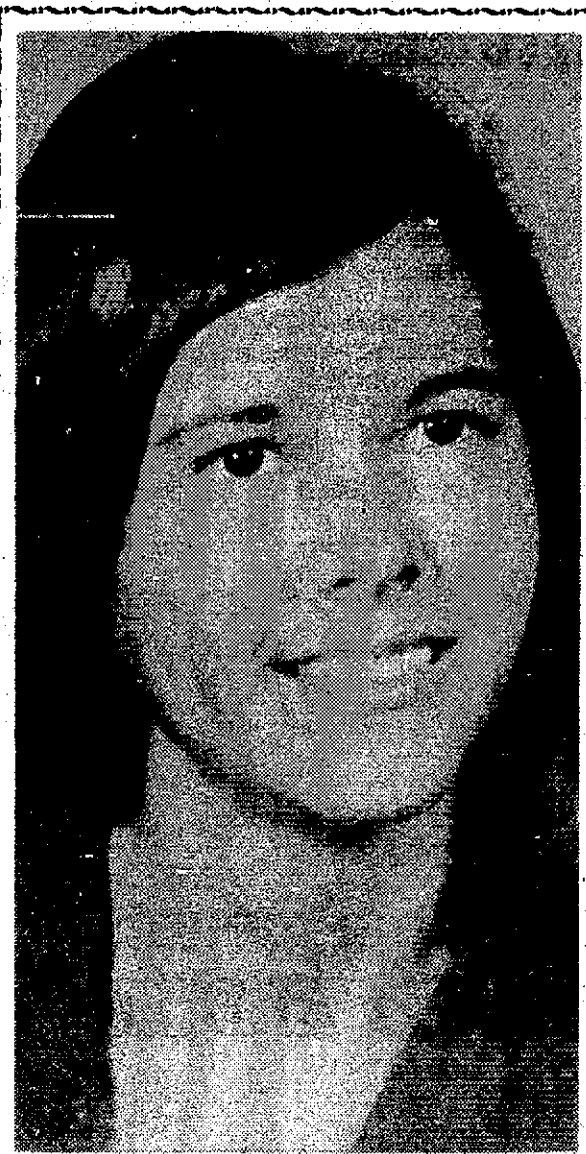

As far as we know the Monday Night Club isn't brushing up on its Spanish for its party Saturday evening at the Lincoln Country Club — but the members are dining and dancing.

The dinner-dance planners include Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Walt, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hunt and Dr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson.

The Monday Night Club also has a sizeable guest list which is composed of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Luchs, Mr. and Mrs. Erv Wursten, Mrs. Ben Stephens of Akron, Ohio; Mrs. John Groth, Mrs. Duncan Sowles, Mr. and Mrs. Bus Whitehead and George Loomis.

Abby: Tuesday

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband comes from a very large family and they are very clannish. The only social life anyone in that family knows is to get together with their relatives. They don't need any outsiders. I am not criticizing them, but I am not that thrilled with a gathering of the clan every weekend for 16 years.

The Women's Liberation thing got me to thinking. Why should we restrict our entire social life to my husband's family? I have met several interesting, attractive women my age who have invited me and my husband over, but we've never gone because my husbands chills the deal.

I have had it! I think more women could "liberate" themselves if they just told their husbands that they were through being pushed around. That's what I intend to do. Starting Monday!

DEAR LIBERATED: Good! And let me hear from you on Tuesday.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a wonderful Italian girl for the last two years. She not only has looks and personality, she is smart, thoughtful and kind. It's funny, I have no trouble writing this to you, but I can't tell her how I feel about her. That's my hang-up, Abby.

She is always after me to tell her I love her, give her a compliment, or show some affection. I am just not the type. I can't help it. I am no kid. I am 27 and she is 25.

She claims she loves me, but isn't love accepting a person the way he is? We were thinking of marriage, but she says if I am like this before marriage, what would I be like afterwards? She says she needs to know that she is loved and appreciated. She IS loved and appreciated. Can I help it if I am not the lovey-dovey type?

Am I wrong in just being myself? Or should I try to give out with the "I love you's" and compliments like most guys do?

My friends say if I call it quits with her I'd be giving up a good thing. She doesn't smoke or drink and she's saving herself until marriage.

NOT DEMONSTRATIVE
DEAR NOT: Her needs are more normal than your hang-up. I suggest that you try to be more affectionate, and make a real effort to demonstrate your appreciation of her. A woman can live without hearing that she's loved and appreciated, but she'll soon grow to resent you. Right now you're a poor match. Get with it, young man!

DEAR ABBY: Am I wrong to be annoyed when a casual acquaintance asks me where I bought my dress, shoes, or some other article of clothing I happen to be wearing? Some even have the gall to ask me how much I paid for it!

I pride myself on being a well-dressed woman. I shop in the best stores — not in bargain basements so it's not that I'm ashamed to tell people where my clothes came from. By the way, I always give them the information as pleasantly as possible even though I am boiling inside.

Maybe I'm too touchy, but I would like to know why so many women ask, "Where did you buy it?"

OFTEN ASKED
DEAR ASKED: They asked because they probably want to buy one like it — or similar. And possibly to get a lead on where to buy unusually good-looking clothes. I'd regard the "where" question as a compliment. "How much" is rude.

Books—The Prairie Schooner

BY INDIRA SINGH

The spring issue of the "Prairie Schooner" is delightful to read and review. Just out this week, the University of Nebraska's literary magazine first of all has a bright yellow cover that is capable of making any day brighter. It is true that one cannot qualify a book by its cover, but to see a waddling yellow duck, drawn by three year old Cindy Steadman, is enough for a fresh setting.

As a matter of fact this issue of the "Prairie Schooner" should be dedicated to children—ALL children. Beside the usual format of short fiction, poetry and criticism, the magazine offers an outstanding portfolio of children's poetry. Hilda Gregory should be commended for her editing of this special section, and Mark DuPree, who collected most of the poems, should be honored for his rapport and patience with children.

Sorting through 800 pieces, including many fine offerings from widely publicized children's writing programs, the "Prairie Schooner" selected 16 poems written by children enrolled in the various traditional and experimental programs in the Lincoln Public School System. Simple, unassuming and unpretentious, the voice of these children is beautifully communicative.

In 1915, poet Carl Sandburg wrote a poem about a fog, but now sixth grader Kevin Brockley writes of his own personal and different fog: "A riot fills the city with hate and violence, hitting, socking the smell of gun powder and marijuana and tear gas, and then as night falls a mist comes over the people till finally peace has come again, and a fog settles down."

The everlasting game of "I wish" is played by Troy Taylor, a third grader. He writes:

"I wish my mother was well. I wish that I had a color TV and we would move away from my house." With further contemplation he continues his wishing game . . . "I would be a warlock and a ghost. I would turn my sister into a pig. I would make a car for my mother. I would make pretty girls. I would have nineteen wives."

Perhaps the best endeavor in the children's portfolio (although they are all exceptional) is the poem by Elizabeth Knoll, age 14. In a poem titled "Dance In The Dusk," she speaks of the love that exists between a child and a bicycle, and the freedom of such an unrequited love.

"We three — gold bike, red bike, blue bike—Cycling across in counterpoint, A minuet for rubber and steel; Splashing through puddles to annoy our feet with bits of leaf and water, Leaving ripple-skim in the wake. Twilight deepened and dropped around our shoulders in a soft blue cape."

Even though the reader might be enamored by child's play, he can still turn to some of the best fiction that the "Prairie Schooner" has offered. "The Parsols" by Florence Chanock Cohen is an intense exercise of compressed images and ideas. Dealing with literary existentialism, the author manages to portray a variety of emotions in a short space. In the genre of adult poetry, there is the soft, superb talk of Susan Martz, and the gentle quivering voice of Sallie Nixon. In a section of poetry dealing with Nebraska, Roy Scheele and Edgar Prescott stand out vividly.

The "Prairie Schooner" which is considered one of the top University magazines in the country, has much more to offer. An excerpt from a journal by David Ignatow entitled "What About Poetry" undoubtedly needs to be read and reread. Miss Bernice Slotte who has the massive task of editing a fine output of talent has once again judged literature with discipline.

The national best seller list for this week offers the following:

FICTION

1. QB VII, Uris
2. The Passions of the Mind, Stone
3. The New Centurions, Wambaugh
4. The Underground Man, MacDonald
5. The Throne of Saturn, Drury

NON FICTION

1. The Greening of America, Reich
2. The Sensuous Man, "M"
3. Future Shock, Toffler
4. Stillwell and the American Experience, Tuchman
5. Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, Brown

Coed Honored

Miss Indira Singh, a staff member of the Lincoln Star Society section, and student at the University of Nebraska, has been chosen as one of three judges for the Sidney Lanier Poetry contest.

The memorial contest in honor of Lanier (pronounced Luh-near) is an annual event for residents in the State of North Carolina. Miss Singh, who is a native of India, has lived in the United States since she was twelve, and attended high school in Lincoln.

"I really don't know how I was selected for this honor," Miss Singh reports, but received a letter asking her to be a judge. Her duties entailed judging of some 100 entries, all traditional sonnets.

Winners of the contest, as well as the three judges will receive a publication of the poems as published by the North Carolina Poetry Society, as well as an expense paid visit to various points in North Carolina this weekend. The weekend activities will include a special banquet for the participants and winner on Saturday evening in Charlotte, N.C.

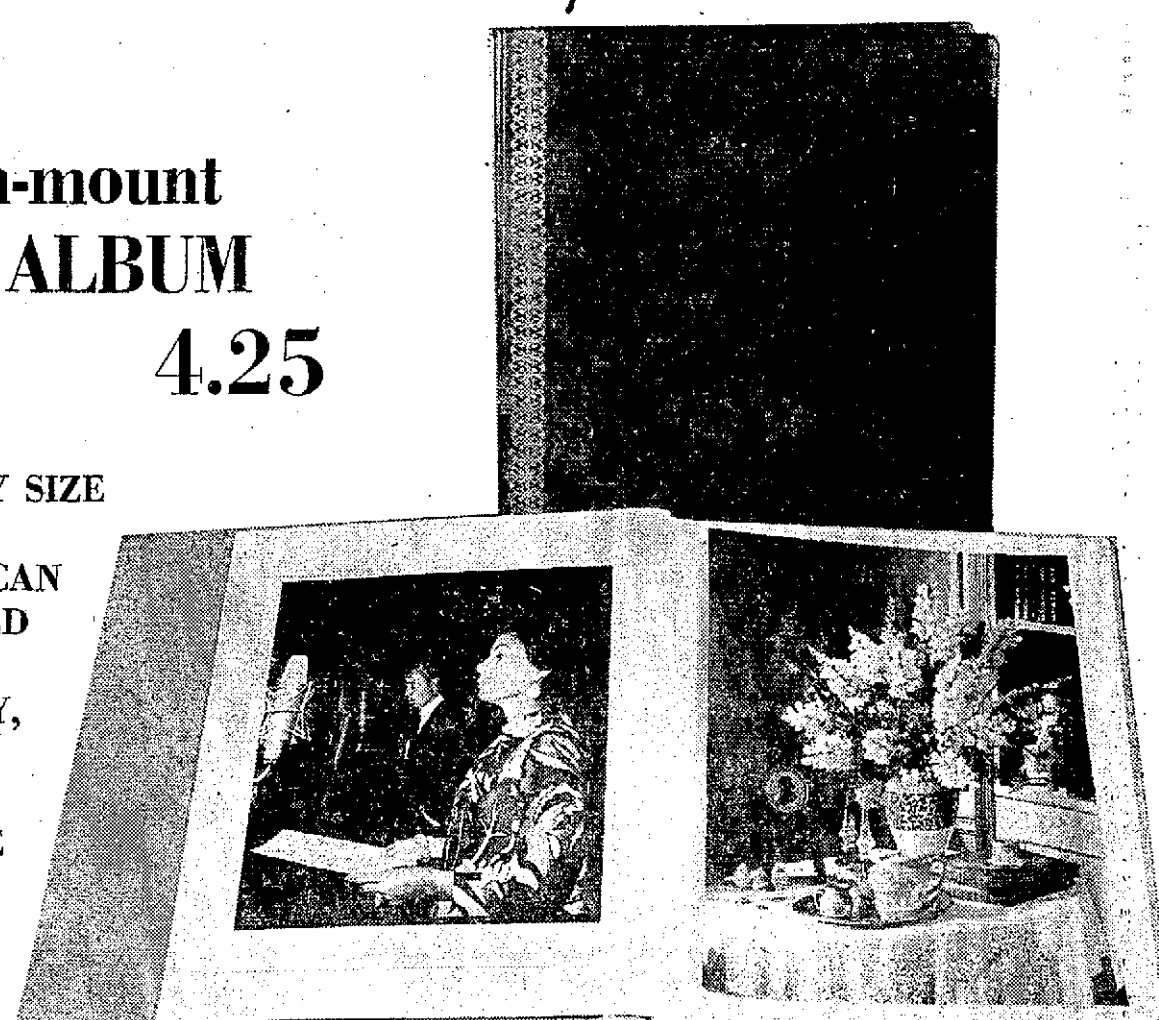

Mr. Lanier, who attends the University of North Carolina, is best known for his poems, "Marshes of Glynn" and "Song of the Chattahoochee."

Food—really gourmet

When the time comes for a truly distinctive and different dish to lift us from the daily routine — something festive and memorable — this is the perfect choice. Elegant Sole Rollups creates its own drama when you bring it to the table, the white rolled fillets rising like delectable mountains from a red sea of glistening, fragrant tomato herb sauced rice.

Really a super gourmet dish to be reserved for those special candlelight and wine occasions, the elegance comes from quality ingredients rather than much detailed work in the kitchen. Good as it is, that long grain and wild rice combo comes ready mixed; and of course, the tasty tomato herb sauce is all made up in advance for you. All you do is combine them imaginatively, garnish them handsomely and prepare yourself for compliments.

1 (15-ounce) can Tomato Herb Sauce
 ¼ cup dry sherry or water
 6 large fillets of sole, about ¼-pound each
 Salt
 Pepper
 ½ cup chopped parsley

Prepare rice as package directs; stir in mushrooms, almonds and green onion. Mix tomato herb sauce and wine together; add 1 cup to rice mixture, blending well. Sprinkle fillets lightly on both sides with salt and pepper. Spread about 2 tablespoons rice mixture down center of each fillet. Roll up and secure with toothpick. Spoon remaining rice mixture in bottom of 2 to 3-quart shallow baking dish. Top with fish rolls and pour remaining sauce mixture over all. Cover with foil. Bake at 350 degrees 30 to 40 minutes, or until fish flakes easily. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Pie Crust Secrets

"As American as apple pie" is a true expression. "Pie" to an American conjures up the image of sweetened fresh fruit sealed and baked in tender, flaky pastry. The creators of this dessert were pioneer women who adapted fruits of the New World to the traditional English deep-dish, pastry-topped pies, except the British original contained meat. Early American pies were necessarily shallow because commodities were scarce. For the same reason, the pie was round — literally to "cut corners" and offer precious pastry to as many as possible.

The way you add shortening to flour to make pastry determines the character of a finished baked product. Pastry and biscuit recipes always call for "cutting" shortening with a pastry blender or two knives. This slicing movement mixes fat into the flour in layers and produces a flaky end product.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

This deal occurred in a women's team of four Championship in England.

At the first table, North, playing Acol, opened two hearts. This announced a considerably better than average opening bid, based in good measure on distributional values.

South responded three clubs and went to five over the raise to four. North would probably have bid six had West not made a somewhat unexpected double of five clubs.

West led a diamond. Declarer ruffed in dummy and played the king of hearts. When West refused the trick, South ruffed out the hearts and wound up with all the tricks to bring home a score of 1,150 points. Had West taken the ace of hearts, South would still have made the contract, but with only one overtrick instead of two.

At the second table, the bidding started the same way but ended differently. It went:

North East South West
2♥ Pass 3♣ Pass
4♣ Pass 5♣ Pass

A diamond was led and South made six, losing only a heart trick. But at this table, having bid the slam, declarer scored 1,540 points, producing a net gain for her team of 390 points.

The opening lead proved to be very expensive. West might easily have reasoned that dummy would probably be void of diamonds. North was unlikely to bid a slam lacking the ace of hearts and ace of diamonds, unless she had no diamonds. On this basis, West could have led a spade — and defeated the slam.

It is interesting to note that West could have made six spades, yet at neither table did West enter the bidding — except at the first table with a belated double. Had either West spoken up sooner, the outcome might have been altogether different.

Tubby Hubby

How is your hubby? Is he tubby? If so it is time for you to go into action, but like a diplomat, smoothing the way so that the goal is reached before he knows what is happening to him.

Father brings home the bacon but he doesn't have to bring it home ON him! It would be much better for him and those who love him if he brought it home in a package.

Overweight is one of the risk factors in the development of heart trouble, that number one killer. Some others are high blood pressure, a high cholesterol blood level, excessive smoking, emotional stress, lack of exercise and heredity. Except for heredity and the food which is served him, a man's fate is in his own hands.

The woman in his life is the one who can help him lose dangerous extra pounds. She is boss in the kitchen. She plans the meals and either prepares them or tells someone else how she wants it done. In fact, the little lady may be partly to blame for burping her husband's once handsome physique under layers of fat. This week I will help her dig him out.

You wives need not fret! He will suffer from pangs of hunger while he is following this diet. The pies and drinks are missing but if he knows that he will be much slimmer just 12 days from now, I am sure he can stay with it. Your interest and encouragement will mean a lot. Following are the menus for Friday.

MENU FOR FRIDAY
BREAKFAST
One glass of tomato juice
Two eggs boiled or poached
Two strips of crisp bacon
One piece of toast with a little butter and jelly
Black coffee

LUNCH
Medium helping of lamb or beef roast (no fat or gravy)
Green salad with vinegar or lemon juice or a reducing dressing
One medium baked potato, with just a bit of butter
One glass of buttermilk

DINNER
Lean Steak
Medium helping of cauliflower.
One helping of green vegetable
One roll, a little butter
Medium helping of cheese
Skimmed milk or buttermilk
Fresh fruit
(Tarragon vinegar or a low calorie salad dressing for salad)
(Use butter or margarine sparingly. Season generously with herbs.)

Donation To Park

The members of the Heritage League decided at their meeting on Tuesday evening, April 27, to donate $200 from the group's treasury to the City Park Department. The funds are to be used to purchase trees for the new park which is to be plotted in Northeast Lincoln at 71st and Adams Sts.

The service project was voted upon following a program on ecology which was presented by Mrs. C. Phillip Agee.

Speakers

Republican National Committeeman and former regent, Richard Herman of Omaha, and National Committeewoman, Mrs. Richard Smith, will address the members of the Cornhusker Republican Women's Club on Friday morning, April 30.

The topic for the speeches will be "Where Do We Republicans Go From Here?"

The 10 o'clock meeting to be held in the meeting room at First Federal will be preceded by a coffee at 9:30 o'clock.

A diamond was led and South made six, losing only a heart trick. But at this table, having bid the slam, declarer scored 1,540 points, producing a net gain for her team of 390 points.

The opening lead proved to be very expensive. West might easily have reasoned that dummy would probably be void of diamonds. North was unlikely to bid a slam lacking the ace of hearts and ace of diamonds, unless she had no diamonds. On this basis, West could have led a spade — and defeated the slam.

It is interesting to note that West could have made six spades, yet at neither table did West enter the bidding — except at the first table with a belated double. Had either West spoken up sooner, the outcome might have been altogether different.

Officers Elected

The candidates for the Board of Education addressed the general meeting of the Merle Beattie PTA on Wednesday evening, April 28.

New officers for the 1971-72 school year were installed at the meeting, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kessner were named presidents.

The other officers will include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sidis, first vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Holtgrewe, second vice presidents; Mrs. Gretchen Powell, third vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Jensen, secretary; Mrs. Howard Churchill, treasurer; Mrs. Mes Lococo and Mrs. George Eckert, council delegates; and Ralph Thorpe, Jr., honorary president.

The Merle Beattie advanced orchestra provided the musical portion of the program.

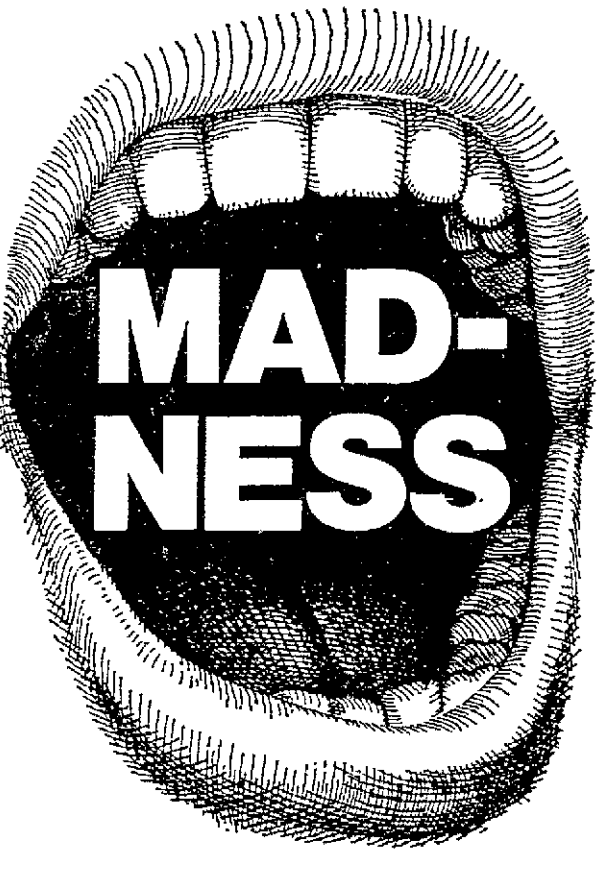

When the members of Stratoga School PTA met recently, officers for the coming year were elected and three life members were named.

PTA board members Mrs. Harold Dietrich and Mrs. Virgil Thriller; and physical education instructor Harlan Mahaffy, were presented with Life Membership certificates.

Mrs. Gerald Terry was elected PTA president for the next school year, and her cabinet will include Mrs. Harold Dietrich, first vice president; Mrs. Gerald Speedlin, second vice president; Donald Hobbs, third vice president; Mrs. Herb Cords, secretary; Mrs. Joe Hoffman, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. George King, treasurer. Mrs. John Cutshall and Mrs. Douglas Duchek were named the council delegates.

A Television Fan? Then you'll like the "Radio and Television Review" in the "Sunday Journal and Star." You'll also find complete program listing and preview of next week's features.

That's what it is. The Hitchin' Post and Wooden Nickel, both at 144 North 14th, are having their annual Midnight Madness clothing sale. For men, the Hitchin' Post has great buys on new suits, flare pants, suits and sportcoats. And for women, the Wooden Nickel has the loveliest looks for spring at special low prices.

But the madness lasts two days only... this Thursday and Friday, noon to midnight. So come together and look around. With new clothes at sale prices, midnight madness can't be far behind.

New York (AP) — In a stock market advance powered by favorable first-quarter earnings results, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials reached a 23-month high Wednesday. Volume was a near record.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials finished ahead 3.73 points at $50.82, its best closing high since May 21, 1969. Advances on the New York Stock Exchange led declines by a narrow margin.

Madison Bus Halt Prompted Takeover By City

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

Can you imagine what it would be like if the buses suddenly stopped running?

This was the situation which faced Madison, Wis. — a community much like Lincoln — when bus drivers in late 1967 decided to strike for higher wages and company officials declined to increase wages conceding the transit operation would go broke.

Bus service in the capital city slightly larger than Lincoln was shut down for approximately two months.

Agreement Reached

Finally an agreement was reached when the public decided to raise money to pay the difference in salaries to get the buses back in operation.

However, during the strike the stockholders of the bus company had voted to dissolve and cease service.

John Bunch, acting director of the city's department of transportation, said there was an outcry from the public once buses stopped for continuation of service and city participation in the local bus operation.

"There were a lot of people inconvenienced," Bunch said, "a lot of older people and low income without a means of transportation."

He said car pools were organized while others "had to bum a ride to get to their destinations."

Bunch, a former traffic engineer with the city, said the loss of a public bus system during the two months' also resulted in plenty of traffic congestion, far more than that experienced by the city when buses were running.

School Buses Halted

He said that bus service had also been provided previously to school children, also curtailed during the strike.

The city, after considerable discussion with the bus company, agreed to underwrite the costs of the bus operation, guaranteeing the firm a 5% return.

Meanwhile, voters in 1968 approved by a 3 to 1 margin an issue allowing the city to take over the bus system and issue general obligation bonds to purchase the equipment and facilities.

Bunch said both the low income and the more affluent persons supported the bond issue and city takeover, with no organized opposition voiced.

In May of 1970 the city did take over the bus system with its fleet of 96 buses, as compared to 36 in Lincoln.

Ridership Increasing

Bunch said that since the city's takeover of the bus operation, "ridership has been on the increase."

Bunch said that the city is still waiting for approval from the federal government of its long delayed application for a capital grant to buy new buses.

The holdup, he said, had been because of the failure of the mayor to sign an agreement regarding bus employees.

Bunch said an agreement has now been signed and the city is waiting for approval of the funds.

Buses Kept Clean

According to one Madison resident, buses have been kept clean along with more bus service provided.

One promotional campaign undertaken was to have riders write in about their favorite bus driver.

The bus system is under the control of the Madison Bus Utility Commission, whose members are appointed by the mayor and include two aldermen (council members.) The commission determines policy and is intended to be wholly independent of the city when operating in the black.

The commission, though, does receive subsidy funds from the city whenever operating at a deficit, for the year now at $500,000.

A department of transportation, made up of the mass transit, parking and traffic engineering divisions, is responsible under the commission for the everyday management of the bus operations.

Under the department is a private management firm hired to provide the expertise, employees, and general manager to operate and maintain the buses.

Bunch said various forms of city operation were explored, with the conclusion reached to hire a management firm instead of a manager so that the city could benefit "from a team of knowledgeable persons who had been working together before."

Bunch said the city had expected to subsidize the bus system initially, but added that $200,000 of the subsidy was unexpected and attributed to a pension fund to which the city had to contribute.

Total operating expenses, he said, total slightly less than $2 million, with three fourths of the costs paid out of fare revenues.

The Lincoln firm's year operating expenditures, for comparison, average around $535,000.

Health Tip

Here is a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Spring is a wonderful time to go hiking, and this is excellent exercise that involves nearly all of the body. Anyone able to walk can exercise, because the strenuousness of the activity depends on the pace and distance traveled.

Like any form of exercise, walking requires a period of gradual conditioning before an all-out effort. Those who are out of training should start with short hikes. The hiker should pay attention to his feet and shoes. The shoes should be properly fitted, be well broken in, and have no rough spots inside. Two pairs of socks help to cushion the foot.

When walking, keep your feet pointed straight ahead, or the weight is unequally distributed and is borne by the parts of the foot least capable of taking the stress.
